Need U. S. Troops To Win Properly

CAIRO, July 7.—(AP)—Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck, new commander in chief of British forces in the Middle East, said Monday United States manpower is needed if the war is to be won properly — "on Germany's own soil."

"And it must be won properly, not half won," he told correspondents.

The commander, who exchanged posts with Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell last week, was former commander-in-chief in India.

"I've always thought the war must be won in Europe, in Germany, on Germany's own soil," he replied to queries.

"They must be beaten in the way Napolean was beaten, therefore, I see as much need for American manpower in this war as in the last. In 12, 14 or 24 months this need will certainly arise. How we are to get into the Germans' country is another matter but ways and means will present themselves."

VICHY, France, July 8.—(AP)—Military circles in Vichy reported today that the German drive against the Stalin line had been virtually stopped for four full days.

These circles indicated that German losses were enormous.

They listed as one of the reasons for stopping the offensive the necessity for regrouping German units.

Other reasons for the halt, they said, was the need to reorganize supply lines and the guerrilla resistance in the rear of German columns.

BEHIND SCHEDULE

Even women and children were joining in these guerrilla attacks, they said.

It was reported in Vichy that the Germans were considerably behind schedule in their operations against Russia, which the military sources said were supposed to last 30 days, ending Aug. 18.

Vichy sources said the heaviest fighting was on the Polotsk-Lepel line and north of Minsk.

Germans advancing toward Dorisov were said to have been unable to cross the Berezina river in this sector although light units were reported to have crossed near Bobruisk.

Wide Areas Of Germany Hit In Night

By SIDNEY J. WILLIAMS

LONDON, July 8.—(BUP)—British planes struck heavy blows at occupied France today in a non-stop, day-and-night attack said to be the mightiest of the war. They had blasted a wide area of industrial Germany in large-scale raids during the night.

The attacks on the invasion coast began during the night while some of Britain's biggest bombers, reportedly using new bombs of terrific destructive power, lashed at eight important German industrial towns and key targets on the Netherlands and Belgian coasts.

For hours after, swarms of bombers, heavily escorted by fighters, sped across the English Channel to attack the invasion ports and enemy supply and air bases inland in northern France.

BLAST OIL PLANT

Big formations of British coastal command planes passed over the Dover Strait at the breakfast hour to rain German airdromes and 10 bomb an important synthetic oil plant between Lens and Bethune, in occupied France up near the Belgian border.

Waves of bombers and fighters swept across the English Channel hour after hour this morning and observers on the coast said it was the biggest early morning day-light sweep of the war.

The attacks on the invasion coast actually started during the night and ran non-stop into the day. A terrific two-minute explosion, heard on the English side of the channel at about 4 a.m., appeared to indicate that a munitions dump had been blown up.

Inhabitants on the English south coast were kept awake throughout the night by a continuous roar of explosions from the direction of Dunkirk, Calais, Boulogne and points inland in north France. Ob-

Today's War Moves

By British United Press

THREE factors tend to bring nearer the day when Britain, instead of being invaded, may be able to reverse the situation and move into the continent against Germany.

One is the German adventure in Russia, another is the Royal Air Force's "blitz" against occupied France and northwestern Germany, a third is the American occupation of Iceland.

Of the three, the outcome of the Russian-German war is the most fateful for Britain. If Adolf Hitler conquers Russia, he will be immeasurably strengthened in material resources, be able to offset the British blockade and turn his full force against Britain.

Even if he does not conquer Russia, but is forced to retire, he not only will have lost a battle, but perhaps the war. He would have a potent enemy always at his rear and an ever-strengthening Britain in front. Having embarked on the attempt, it seems Hitler has to beat Russia or get out of the war business.

TAKING ADVANTAGE

As for the British air campaign in the west, it is the logical preparation for the eventual invasion of the continent. The fact that it is so

BRITISH NEWSPAPERS

Laud U. S. Move

LONDON, July 8.—(CP)—London's morning newspapers today put the landing of United States forces in Iceland in a category of big news ranking with "Russia's successful resistance" to Germany.

The Daily Express said that by President Roosevelt's action "the Atlantic Ocean last night became an Anglo-American lake."

An authoritative source said the establishment of United States forces in Iceland "relieves us of commitments" in that direction.

FREES BRITISH FLEET

There was no immediate authoritative elaboration of that statement, but qualified observers attached importance to the fact that Iceland is well within the Atlantic blockade zone proclaimed by Germany.

One observer said the United States move might mean "there would be many United States warships and aircraft commuting between the home country and Iceland," suggesting that as a result portions of the British fleet would be freed for use elsewhere.

United States planes operating from Iceland, Greenland, Newfoundland and Bermuda now are in a position to blanket the entire North Atlantic shipping route even up to British ports, some sources remarked.

Air patrols operating from Iceland probably would cover much of the area where German long-

Old Scottish Lady Has Sure Recipe For Fortitude During Bombing Raids

TORONTO, July 8.—(CP)—A gathering of nearly 1,000 people paying tribute at a testimonial dinner to C. O. Knowles Monday night received a recipe through Rt. Hon. Malcolm MacDonald for British fortitude.

The British High Commissioner told the dinner in honor of the Toronto Evening Telegram editor of a letter he received the other day from "an old Scottish lady who is a veteran of many air raids."

"I give it to you lest by some mischance Hitler gets his way to the extent of bombing Toronto in some future period of the war," Mr. MacDonald said, quoting the letter:

"When the air raid warning sounds I take the Bible from the shelf and read the 23rd Psalm, where it says 'though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death I will fear no evil, for thou art with Me.' Then I put up a wee bit prayer. Then I take a wee drap o'whisky to steady my nerves. Then I get into bed and pull up the covers; and then I tell Hitler to go to hell."

Petain Asks Authoritarian Constitution For France

VICHY, France, July 8.—(AP)—Marshal Petain indicated today he wants Vichy's new constitution to abolish male suffrage and instructed the constitution drafting committee that "a state born of national revolution must be authoritarian and hierarchic."

In an opening address to the committee, Petain declared that in the past authority came from sheer numbers, but that today it must come from 'natural groups without which a people is neither a state nor a nation."

"It is no longer sufficient to count votes," Petain asserted. "It will be necessary to weigh their value and to determine the responsible factions in community life."

CORPORATIVE CHARACTER

He described the organic laws to be adopted upon completion of the constitution as the "communal or provincial laws, the charter of cooperations and statutes of functionaries," thus indicating the corporative character of the new French state.

The main problem of the constitution makers, he said, was to replace a "sovereign people by arcising absolute rights in total irresponsibility" with a "people whose rights derive from their duties."

He defined a people as a "hierarchy of families, professions and communities which must produce a hierarchy of men . . . of whom a small number shall advise and a few command. At the top will be the chiefs, who will govern."

Russ Chase Nazi Auxiliary, Sink Two Mine-Layers

MOSCOW, July 8.—(AP)—A German auxiliary cruiser was routed and two mine-layers sunk by the Russian Baltic fleet and air force during a Nazi attempt to enter Riga Bay Sunday, Political Commissar V. Lebedev reported in the newspaper Pravda today.

Next Recruits For 4-Month Training Enter Camp July 31

OTTAWA, July 8.—(CP)—Training camps across Canada will open their gates July 31 to the next group of recruits called up for four-month military training, the Department of National War Services said today.

The only exception, officials said, will be at Grande Prairie, Alta., where railway communications will defer opening until Aug. 1.

Border Dispute Quieting Down

QUITO, Ecuador, July 8—(BUP)—The border dispute between Ecuador and Peru is quieting down. Today only a few rifle shots have been fired.

Yesterday Peruvian planes flew over the border on reconnaissance flights. And Peruvian troops are said to be concentrated two miles from the disputed border.

Nearly 30-thousand citizens of Quito have taken part in demonstrations demanding strong measures against Peru.

British Gunboats Sink German Sub

LA LINEA, Spain, July 8.—(AP)—British gunboats operating in the Strait of Gibraltar were reported today to have destroyed a German submarine with depth charges and to have recovered the bodies of two German sailors.

The submarine was spotted by a plane as it was about to attack a convoy of 27 merchantmen, including four tankers.

The convoy, escorted by two destroyers and other warships, was passing through the strait when the submarine appeared.

Many Trainloads Of Nazi Wounded Reaching Berlin

NEW YORK, July 8.—(AP)—The Columbia Broadcasting System's Stockholm correspondent quoted a traveller reaching Sweden from Germany today as declaring that many trainloads of German wounded are reaching Berlin from the eastern front.

City Airman Made Wing Commander

OTTAWA, July 8—(CP)—The Royal Canadian Air Force today announced the promotion of 30 squadron leaders to the rank of Wing Commander.

The new Wing Commanders from Western Canada include:

WC. Blanchard has flown out of Edmonton and in the North West Territories. He is married to the former Elizabeth Douglas of Edmonton.

Nazis Assert Troops Better At Stalin Line

BERLIN, July 8—(AP)—Nazi war reports claimed today that the German air force has battered Zhitomir, on the road to the Ukraine, to ruins and that Germany's best soldiers are flinging themselves at the Stalin line.

The Nazis claimed that on the southern wing of the front a "pursuit of the enemy" was in progress on the road to Kiev, capital of the wheat-producing province. D.N.B., Nazi propaganda and news agency, claimed penetrations of the vast Stalin line were made in this area. The Nazi high command made no such claim.

GERMAN PICTURE

In general terms, as pictured in Berlin, the situation at the front was this:

Extreme North—The situation is satisfactory to German and Finnish arms.

The Baltic Front—The Germans were bombing the Russians east of Lake Peipus along the Estonian-Russian frontiers.

Central Front, North of Pripet Marshes—The Nazis were hurling themselves on a broad front against the Red defences along the Upper Dvina River, which flows north to the Baltic, and the Dniepер which flows south to the Black Sea.

Behind this front, the city of Smolensk, 90 miles northeast of Minsk and 230 miles southwest of Moscow, was reported almost constantly being bombed.

South of Pripet Marshes—The Germans are pursuing the Russians after the reported capture of some bunkers in the Stalin line.

Condition Of Wheat Crops Now Eighty Per Cent. Normal

OTTAWA, July 8—(CP)—The condition of all wheat in Canada at June 30, expressed in percentage of the long-time average yields per acre, was shown by the Bureau of statistics as 80 per cent today, compared with 98 per cent at May 31 and 96 per cent at June 30, 1940.

Air Attack On North America Not Impossible

REGINA, July 8.—(CP)—An enemy air attack on the North American continent is by no means an impossibility, Prime Minister Mackenzie King told a parade of Royal Canadian Air Force personnel here today.

After receiving a general salute from the men of No. 4 training command, the prime minister addressed the men and told them how important a task rested with the air force.

But for the Royal Air Force, Britain might have been over-run months ago "and no one knows the consequences to this country had that terrible event come to pass," he said.

TURNING POINT

The stand made by the British flying men had marked a turning point in the war's progress "but the time has not yet arrived when we can be confident there will be no air attack upon this continent," Mr. King said.

He spoke of the action taken by the United States in extending its patrols far out over the Atlantic and its occupation of Iceland as indicative of the belief of that country that attempted attacks upon this continent might be expected.

Cadet Instructors Will Get Training

OTTAWA, July 8—(CP)—Dates of special summer training courses arranged for cadet instructors "in preparation for fall school terms" were announced by national defence headquarters today.

The department said a four-week instructional period for instructors from military districts No. 11 (Victoria), 12 (Regina), and 13 (Calgary), will start Sunday at Sarcee camp near Calgary.

"The new cadet policy," a statement from the defence headquarters said, "is designed to make training more interesting and useful with emphasis on map-reading, signalling, first aid, fieldcraft and woodcraft.

"However, small arms training and physical training will remain the basic drill."

Northern Gold Playing New Role As Wartime Demand Creates Boom

The yellow gold of Canada's great northland, made famous by Canada's own bard of the north, Robert W. Service, is playing a new and famous role.

As the result of a wartime demand by the Dominion government for the precious metal the north is experiencing the greatest gold mining boom in history this summer and new and greater quantities will be brought out before the conflict is over.

In announcing departure for the north on Tuesday morning's Waterways train of 18 qualified carpenters for mill building in the Yellowknife field, C. E. Drummond, secretary-manager of the Alberta and Northwest Chamber of Mines declared: "This is undoubtedly the biggest gold boom in the history of the north."

BIGGER MILLS

More and bigger mills are being installed each month in the northern gold mining areas, Mr. Drummond said. The mill mill at Yellowknife, operated by Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co., is increasing its capacity from 100 to 350 tons per day.

Ptarmigan Mines at Yellowknife, is installing a 100-ton per day capacity mill. Thompson-Lundmark of Yellowknife is putting in a mill of 150 tons per day output, while Giant Yellowknife is in turn out concentrates at 5 25-ton daily rate.

There is considerable activity scheduled to commence at several other parts of the north gold areas and announcement will be made soon concerning these new projects, Dr. Charles Camsell, deputy minister of mines and resources, Ottawa, will be in the city Sunday on his way to the northern mining areas on a tour of inspection.

All workmen who go north must pass rigid physical tests, Mr. Drummond stated. This is for a double-barrelled purpose. For one reason it is necessary that no person who might spread infectious disease be permitted to go north. Secondly, companies who stake workmen to fares have often had to bring the men out again because they were unable to stand the rigors of the north due to some physical defect.

HUNS PLANNED TO SEIZE ATLANTIC BASES

Roosevelt Acts In Iceland To Forestall Nazis' Plan

American Action Follows Reports Received Germans Intended To Take Island

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON, July 8.—(BUP)—A usually well-informed congressional source said today that President Roosevelt took over the military protection of Iceland after reports reached him that the German general staff was considering attacking it to obtain a base from which to control North Atlantic shipping lanes.

United States naval forces were gradually supplanting a British garrison defending the independent island republic, which is 180 miles from Greenland, 800 miles from the Norwegian wing of Germany's war front, and 2,500 miles from New York.

It was a partial fulfillment of President Roosevelt's fears that all the Atlantic outposts of the western hemisphere, including the Azores and the Cape Verde Islands, would have to be taken over as defensive measures.

The report of German plans said to have reached Mr. Roosevelt said that the Germans planned another strong base at Dakar, French West Africa, and from it and Iceland hoped to sink or capture 40 per cent of the Atlantic shipping en route to Egypt and the British Isles.

There was no indication in Washington, nor is it believed likely, that the United States would attempt to put a protective force at Dakar.

One reason advanced by Mr. Roosevelt for taking over in Iceland was that German occupation of the island would be a "threat against the steady flow of munitions to Great Britain—which is a matter of broad policy clearly approved by Congress."

LESS LIKELY TO ATTACK

It was believed that the Germans would be less likely to attack the American garrison which is now replacing the British, since it would be calculated to bring the United States formally into the war. The British said their garrison, of an undisclosed size, was being freed for "service elsewhere."

As the crow-or airplane-flies, the American forces in Iceland are 1,230 miles from Amsterdam; 1,450 miles from Hamburg and 800 miles from the closest tip of Scotland.

servers saw one particularly large fire on the French coast.

The air ministry asserted that British fighters shot down seven German fighters and announced the loss of five British fighters and one bombing plane.

It was said that nine bombers were lost in the unusually heavy, and unusually successful raid on Germany and occupied territory during the night.

Cologne, Osnabrueck, Muenchen-Gladbach, Frankfort - On - Main, Muenster, Duesseldorf, Dulsberg and Krefeld, all important to German war industry, were the targets. The bomber command planes also raided Den Helder, the big Netherlands naval base, Amsterdam, Ostend, submarine base on the Belgian coast, and Brest, Lorient and Boulogne, on the French invasion coast.

EXTENSIVE DAMAGE

It was indicated that the force of planes engaged was unusually large and that damage was unusually extensive.

In connection with the recent mounting night offensive against the Ruhr and Rhineland, one reliable Allied source heard that after several successive raids on Cologne, large numbers of residents evacuated to Aachen. Then when British bombers went to work on the Aachen area, they tried to enter western Holland, but were refused permission by the gestapo.

GERMANY ADMITS DAMAGE IS HEAVY

BERLIN, July 8.—(CP)—The German high command admitted today that "considerable damage" was caused by Royal Air Force attacks last night on Cologne and Muenster.

It claimed 16 British aircraft were shot down (against nine announced as missing by the British air ministry). In day operations yesterday it claimed destruction of 11 British planes against two Germans lost. (The British air ministry said each side lost seven.)

Future Of Empire Air Training Plan Under Discussion

LONDON, July 8.—(CP)—Continuation of the Commonwealth air training plan, the agreement of the United Kingdom, Canada, Australia and New Zealand expires in 1943 was discussed today at a conference attended by Sir Archibald Sinclair, United Kingdom air secretary; C. D. Howe, Canadian air minister, and Harold Balfour, United Kingdom undersecretary for air.

The discussions on the future of the C.A.T.P.—the vast undertaking which assumed a constant source of thousands of trained airmen for Britain's air fleet—constitute one of the most important objects of the Canadian air minister's trip to Britain.

Industry Trainees Get Compensation

OTTAWA, July 8.—(CP)—Compensation for injuries, other than temporary disability, now may be paid to persons who suffer industrial accidents while being trained under the war emergency training program, Labor Minister McLarty said today.

Officials said trainees would be covered for cost of medical care and hospitalization and pension for permanent total or partial disability.

The trainee will not be covered for temporary disability, but where he is laid off by disability he is limited period payment of his allowance will be continued.

Mr. McLarty announced that representatives of the petroleum industry in conference with the wartime bureau of technical personnel, had agreed to co-ordinate their efforts in a program of training mechanics for the army.

This means the companies agree to co-ordination in securing technical personnel and will undertake to aid the training of men in actual war industries.

German Invasion Of Russia Due To Sea Blockade

LOS ANGELES, July 8.—(AP)—William Turney, of London, senior general manager of Reuter's News Agency, said Monday he believed that "something colossal is happening in Germany—something very close to revolution."

"Otherwise," he declared, "I do not believe Hitler would have dared to tackle so gigantic a task as an all-out war against the Soviet.

"He found himself in desperate need of food for German civilization and fuel for his mechanized army."

Turner's remarks were made in an interview upon his arrival aboard the liner Monterey from Australia. In it he expressed belief that the German invasion of Russia was due to the fact that the British blockade of the continent of Europe has been even more effective than is realized by the British war ministry.

apparently was taken along the Dnieper river front, where 36 heavy German tanks and two infantry battalions were reported destroyed, and in the shell-plowed fields of the western Ukraine where two regiments were reported wiped out by Russian counter-attacks.

DRIVE IS STEMMED

To the north, where German mechanized forces have been driving through the Ostrov area northeast toward Leningrad, strong Soviet resistance stemmed the German drive, the Moscow communique said.

It reported fierce fighting, too, in the Borisov area of the Baltic front against a drive toward Polotsk on the upper Dvina.

In the centre region of Lepel, where fighting has centred along the canal linking the Dvina and the upper Beresina, the Russians declared Soviet and German troops were locked in attack and counter-attack in a continuing struggle.

The communique spoke specifically of the destruction of German units which normally would total about 8,000 men.

"In the direction of Novograd Volynski," the war bulletin said, "heavy fighting with enemy tanks and motorized units continued. Farther south from this direction our troops, by a decisive counter-attack on the flank and rear of the enemy, annihilated two enemy infantry regiments."

FIERCE STRUGGLE

Also in the Ukraine, the Red army was reported in another fierce struggle with German and Rumanian troops thrusting toward the Dniester River. Russian reports of this sector that "Owing to the operations of our troops the enemy is being wiped out part by part."

On the central front the slowly-straightening battle line the Soviet said German troops were master of their lives only in the Upper Dvina, the Beresina and the fortified Dnieper in futile efforts to cross the rivers toward Moscow.

A Moscow communique said heavy losses were inflicted on forces thrusting into Soviet territory in the vicinity of Kaklaiai, on the Karelian isthmus, 75 miles north of Leningrad, and toward Kandalaksha, 150 miles south of Murmansk and Ukhta, 150 miles farther south.

HELD UP ADVANCE

It reported Soviet forces fighting "fierce engagements against strong units of mechanized enemy troops, holding up their advance towards the northeast" from the Ostrov area. The Nazi spearhead there has been thrust through the Baltic line within 175 miles of Leningrad.

Soviet troops were said to be holding firm against repeated Nazi attempts to cross the upper reaches of the Dvina near Polotsk in northern White Russia.

The Red army in the western Ukraine was reported locked in a fierce fight with German and Rumanian troops near Mogilev Podolski, just inside the Soviet across the Dniester river frontier from Bessarabia.

Nazis Use Soviet Boy Scout Flag To Deceive World

WASHINGTON, July 8.—(AP)—Constantine A. Oumansky, the Russian ambassador, charged Monday that Germany had used a Soviet Boy Scout flag to give the impression that she had captured a big Russian troop unit.

He told reporters during a state department visit that photographs released by the Nazis and showing German soldiers holding what was said to be a Russian war banner, depicted in reality the emblem of the Young Pioneers which he described as the Russian Boy Scouts. He exhibited a tie clasp belonging to his young daughter, a Girl Scout, and said the insignia on it corresponded to that on the flag.

An embassy attache said the inscription on the flag read: "For the struggle, for the cause of Lenin-Stalin, be ready." This, it was added, was the slogan of the Young Pioneers.

German Colonists Killed At Border Of Costa Rica, Panama

PANAMA CITY, Panama, July 8—(BUP)—Twelve German colonists are said to have been killed at a frontier town, 20 miles from the Costa Rican border. The German colonists are reported to have been involved in a gun battle with Panamanian police.

One police officer was wounded and several Germans were taken prisoner.

The area in which the gun battle occurred is said to be settled by many Germans who are pro-Nazis.

Russian Military Mission In London

LONDON, July 8.—(CP)—A Soviet military mission of army, navy and air force officers arrived today in London.

The mission, which shortly will be in touch with the staffs of Britain's three fighting services, reciprocates for a British mission sent to Moscow, authoritative sources said.

It was understood that Maj.-Gen. Golikov, deputy chief of the Soviet general staff, is heading the mission here.

One of the members is Rear-Admiral Kharlamov of the Soviet naval staff.

Representatives of Russian technical troops also were included, but no economic delegates accompanied the group.

Britain To Strike Wherever Needed

LONDON, July 8.—(CP)—Great Britain said in a note to the Turkish government today that Britain reserves the right to attack enemy shipping wherever it may be, authoritative sources said.

The note was in reply to a Turkish protest over the sinking by British torpedo planes July 4 of the French ship St. Didier, which went down in the Turkish harbor of Adalia with the loss of 25 persons.

ANKARA, Turkey, July 8—(AP)—The French embassy sent an investigator today to Andalia (Antalya), site of the torpedo sinking of the Vichy freighter St. Didier.

The British authorities are known to be concerned over the reported presence of Vichy troops at Axis-held Saloniks, Greece, and have expressed determination to hamper all efforts to reinforce the Levant army of Gen. Henri Dentz.

Americans Study Wartime Welfare In Ottawa Visit

OTTAWA, July 8—(CP)—Hon. J. T. Thorson, minister of national war services, Monday formally welcomed to Ottawa a delegation representing the American Public Welfare association which came here to discuss wartime welfare problems with Canadian agencies.

The 13 representatives from all parts of the United States were attending a dinner given by Mr. Thorson and attended by Canadian and United States officials.

Mr. Thorson, of Icelandic origin, said it was a great occasion to welcome American visitors on the same day as it was announced the United States had sent troops for the protection of Iceland, one of the first countries in the world to set up a democratic government.

Wendell Willkie Hopes U.S. Will Patrol Atlantic

NEW YORK, July 8—(AP)—Wendell Willkie said Monday night that he believed "the occupation of Iceland was a necessary move."

"As a matter of fact," Willkie said, "I advocated such action, in a speech I made at a rally in Chicago, June 6, as a necessary precaution for the protection of the United States and insuring our ability to protect shipments to the British Isles."

Willkie added that he hoped President Roosevelt would take "other necessary actions to further insure the delivery of our products to Britain."

When asked what steps he referred to, Willkie said he meant the use of the navy in patrolling the Atlantic and protecting American shipments.

Dies At Windsor

LONDON, July 8.—(CP)—Lady Gwendeline Spencer Churchill, sister-in-law of Prime Minister Winston Churchill, died Sunday at Windsor, it was announced yesterday. She was the daughter of the seventh Earl of Abingdon, and married Maj. John Strange Spencer Churchill in 1908.

U.S. Strength In Iceland Is Secret

WASHINGTON, July 8.—(AP)—The strength of naval forces landed in Iceland yesterday by the United States was a government secret. Unofficially there was speculation that Marines constituted the vanguard of American forces.

President Roosevelt's message notifying Congress of the momentous step, mentioned no figure and the navy declined to amplify the President's words.

A message from the Prime Minister of Iceland to Mr. Roosevelt used the word "troops" when referring to United States forces which would take over defence of the island. This general term could embrace any type of force, any character the army as well as the navy and marines

Nazis Make Raid On Southampton

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., July 8—(CP)—Nazi night raiders subjected this port to a sharp attack last night in which a substantial damage and killed a number of persons.

The raiders blazed away for several hours in one of the heaviest attacks they have made on Britain recently. The business section was hardest hit.

The last big attack on England was made on the night of May 10 when many of the historic structures of the city or London were ruined.

Incendiaries showering down with high explosives, when the Nazis used dive bombing tactics, started a large number of fires and caused damage to two churches, two banks, a school and a number of private homes.

It was feared the death toll would be raised when results of a hit on a public air raid shelter are known.

Japanese Claiming Complete Blockade South China Coast

HONG KONG, July 8—(AP)—Complete blockade of the South China coast was claimed today by the Japanese army as it announced the capture of Wonkong seaport on the border of Kwangtung and Fukien provinces, 200 miles north of Hong Kong.

The Japanese army described Wongkong as the last loophole on the China coast through which war supplies could be sent to the Chinese

U.S. Navy Move Is Significant Premier States

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., July 8—(CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King Monday night, commented that the occupation of Iceland by the United States was "the most significant move yet," and said "naturally I am greatly pleased."

The prime minister said Canadian troops, who had paved the way in Iceland for naval occupation by the United States, were now all in England.

"I have known about it for a week," the prime minister said. He added that the United States had a "very large naval force in Iceland."

"Does it mean war on the part of the United States?" the prime minister was asked.

"Well, I don't know," he replied.

HOW TO RELIEVE PILE TORTURE QUICKLY AND EASILY

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness of the rectum is classed as nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Rod from Merrien Drug Stores or any druggist and use as directed. This formula which is used internally is a small, easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore tender spots. Hem-Rod is simple to use, is highly recommended and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a time proved remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-Rod and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly refund your money.

Press Lauds American Move Into Iceland

range bombers frequently attack shipping, as well as the routes which German warships would be forced to follow in any attempt to elude the British fleet, observers said.

They recalled that the German battleship Bismarck and cruiser Prinz Eugen swung beyond Iceland in an effort to avoid detection prior to the battle and chase in May which cost Britain the battle cruiser Hood and ended with the destruction of the Bismarck.

MOVE IS ANSWER TO CALL OF TIMES

NEW YORK, July 8.—(CP)—The New York Herald Tribune said editorially today that the United States' move in occupying Iceland "is action of the sort for which the times have so desperately been calling."

"This is strictly a defensive move, but it is dynamic defence," the Herald Tribune continued. "It is defence which does not hesitate to name the danger, which moves in time and which sees the problem in its broadest terms. It is defence which reaches hundreds of miles into the Nazis' pretended 'war zone', unmindful of the threats with which they have sought to sustain it, because it understands the vital character of the objective . . . the implications are far-reaching."

NORTH ATLANTIC DEFENCE

Saying that American forces moved "under the driving compulsion of events," the New York Times said every far-sighted American will welcome the news. It concluded:

"We are now moving into a more active defence of the North Atlantic against a predatory power bent upon world domination. We are taking our place in the line and playing our part in the defence of civilization."

Comment from other representative United States papers follows:

Rochester Democrat and Chronicle: "The defence of the United States is the first responsibility of the national government and as commander-in-chief of the nation's armed forces, the president would be derelict in his duty if he did not act to make that defence effective, in light of any situation which he may foresee. . . .

"It may be charged that the Naval occupation is the entering wedge for a new expeditionary army to Europe. Nothing in the language of the president's message would give ground for such a charge. . . ."

ACTION REPLACES WORDS

Knoxville (Tenn.) Journal: "It seems that this would make it clear, beyond all doubt, that the occupation of Iceland is another step toward war. . . . The powers lodged in the president as commander-in-chief make it possible for him to determine personally the issue of peace or war. He can declare war on his own responsibility, but he can bring about a situation in which such action is the only course open to congress."

Nashville (Tenn.) Tennessean: "Those who have advocated action instead of words in implementing the aid Britain policy of the United States, now have action in a grand manner. The element of surprise is played from the west as well as from the east, with the world's greatest navy to back it up."

San Francisco Chronicle: "Iceland! Our men are there! That surprises America, but they will remember that it had to be that way. As moves are made in this world today they have to be made first, announced afterward. Americans have to be surprised in order that the Germans be surprised . . . we cannot afford to gamble that Hitler would never use, or attempt to use, this stepping stone. This is a case where it was vital to make sure and do it in time."

FIRST OF SERIES

Kansas City Star: "The sending of American forces to Iceland on invitation of the Icelandic government is a sound measure of national defence. The seizure of Iceland by Germany would constitute a threat to Greenland and to the North American continent."

St. Paul Pioneer Press: "The right of the United States to keep the ocean open in its own defence is every bit as good as Hitler's right to close it by acts of piracy, and a great deal better under the teaching of international law."

Washington Post: "Mr. Roosevelt has stolen a march on the Nazis, besides relieving the British of a burden . . . she can ill afford to bear. Doubtless the step is the first of a series which were foreshadowed in the president's declaration (of May 27) . . . If similar moves were made on the West African coast we should be more to assure the French that we mean business. . . ."

Italian Editor Thinks U.S. Is Now In Conflict

ROME, July 8.—(UP)—Virginio Gayda, Italian editor, asserted today that landing of American forces on the European continent would "be all that is necessary definitely to thrust the United States into the catastrophe."

Gayda's comment came as Italian quarters claimed that American occupation of Iceland constituted "actual intervention" of America in European waters, and suggested it would result in sea incidents between the United States and Axis forces.

"On the European continent," Gayda said, "the Americans and British would face the joint forces of the Axis, aided by other associated powers."

a place in the world which she never held before in all her history," said Mr. King.

FULL DAY'S PROGRAM

The prime minister arrived here this morning and opened a full day's program with an hour's inspection of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police headquarters.

There, under guidance of Supt. T. V. Sandys-Renwick and Asst. Commissioner C. D. Lensaue, Mr. King was taken through the crime laboratory, the museum which contains many interesting exhibits of western crimes, and the swimming pool, where all recruits are taught proficiency in swimming and life-saving.

BRIEF ADDRESS

Next stopping place was No. 4 training command, where the prime minister, after inspecting the guard of honor, delivered a brief address. He was conducted by Air Commodore A. T. Cowley, officer commanding.

He then closely inspected the class rooms, located in Regina college and Normal school, and met many distinguished flying men, including Flight Lieut. F. R. McCall, D.F.C., second ranking Canadian ace now in the Dominion.

The prime minister showed great endurance as he walked about unprotected for a blazing sun and climbed numerous flights of stairs.

British Advancing On 3 Syria Fronts

CAIRO, July 8—(AP)—Advances on three Syrian fronts and successful mopping up operations behind Australian lines south of Damour, the key to Beirut, were announced by the British Middle East command today.

"Indian troops have made further progress westward from Demir Kapou," a communique said of the thrust towards the Vichy air base of Aleppo which parallels the Turkish frontier.

Other advance towards Homs from Dier-Ez-Zor is continuing and local gains again have been made north of Djezzine (British desert forces are in the president's declaration (of May 27) . . . If similar moves were made on the West African coast we should be more to assure the French that we mean business. . . ."

In the coastal sector south of Beirut, all objectives south of the River of Damour were said to have been occupied and "fighting is continuing."

Attendance At Stampede Tops Opening Record

CALGARY, July 8.—(CP)—A new opening day record was set at the Calgary Exhibition and Stampede Monday when the attendance of 20,174, topped last year's record by 7,819. A Conservative estimate of the evening grandstand crowd was 15,000.

Only three times in the history of the stampede previously has the 20,000 mark been passed, and never on an opening day.

One of the largest influxes of tourists is crowding accommodation to the limit. A large percentage is from the United States.

A surging crowd of 4,000 threatened to break down the gates into the grandstand enclosure early in the evening when the turnstiles couldn't click fast enough to get them in. Officials were forced to open the big gates int. the enclosure and collect tickets as best they could.

Dick Andrews, Claresholm cowboy, highlighted the afternoon Stampede events when he decorated his wild steer in 6 3-5 seconds. Jack Wade, Halkirk, was second.

Two United States cowboys tied for top honors in the North American bucking contest with saddle. They were Doff Aber, Wolf, Wyoming, and Ernie Much, Browning, Mont. In the North American calf roping contest Jack Streeter of Nanton, Alta., hog-tied his doggie in 22 3-5 seconds to take day money. In the Canadian event Pat Burton of Claresholm tied his knots in 22 1-5 seconds.

Although he disappointed the huge crowd by trailing second to Sam Johnson of DeWinton in the final heat, Dick Cosgrave won the opening night's card of the chuck-wagon races. His time was one minute and 10 seconds.

Crop Damage In Ontario Caused By Heavy Storm

TORONTO, July 8—(CP)—Two persons were killed during a severe electrical and rain storm that swept over nearly all of Ontario Monday, causing crop damage, loss of property and disruption of power and communication lines. The storm broke about mid-day and recurred intermittently in the afternoon.

William Haas, 25, was killed when struck by lightning while working on his father's farm near Renfrew in Eastern Ontario, and Burdge Butts, 52, was killed in the same manner while returning with his team of horses from work in the fields of his farm near Milton, close to Hamilton.

The storm brought relief to drought-stricken areas where crops were badly in need of rain.

Gen. Duch Will Lead Canadian Unit Of Poles

By ROSS MUNRO

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, July 8.— (CP) — Before going to Canada to command a Polish division being formed in the Dominion, Maj.-Gen. B. Duch visited the 1st Canadian Division, talked with a group of Poles in the Canadian overseas army, saw a platoon demonstration and inspected two crack infantry regiments.

Accompanied by Lt.-Col. J. Ilinski, who will be his chief staff officer with the Canadian-Polish division, Gen. Duch lunched with Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, 1st Division commander, and other headquarters officers and then watched the headquarters' protective platoon under Lieut. G. R. Corkett of Brampton, Ont., attack a dummy tanke with explosives and special anti-tank fire bombs.

The platoon deployed for defensive skirmishes and staged a mimic raid.

Thirteen Poles picked from different regiments met the general at headquarters and he chatted with each in his native tongue, later making a short speech in which he congratulated them on their work with the Canadian army.

Cpl. W. Sanuik of Winnipeg, a smart young soldier, was in charge of the Polish detachment and the others were: Pte. M. S. Antonio and W. Kokoski, both of Sexsmith, Alta.; A. Kruk, St. Paul, Alta.; J. C. Cyganiewich, Guy, Alta.; W. Drag, Edmonton; H. Novadile, Winnipeg; P. Kowalski, Tarnapol, Sask.; J. Slimowitch, Falconbridge, Ont.

Japanese Plan Defence State For Emergency

TOKYO, July 8—(AP)—Amid Japan's observance of the fourth anniversary of the China affair Monday appeared indications that the empire was determined to establish a highly organized defence state for national preparedness.

Several significant conferences were held by Emperor Hirohito and Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye, and Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka returned to Tokyo unexpectedly from his summer home.

Observers said a new unity of authority might be developing in order to co-ordinate economic activity.

Rear-Admiral Minoru Mayeda, speaking for the navy, said strengthening of naval air bases by the United States in the Pacific is directed solely against Japan.

He also charged that the Netherlands East Indies, Australia, the Philippines and New Zealand are co-operating with the United States in an attempt to encircle Japan. He said United States aid to the Soviet might provoke a further crisis in the Pacific especially if Soviet Vladivostok made an anti-Japanese move.

CHUNGKING, July 8—(AP)—Scores of buildings were destroyed and hundreds left homeless Monday when Japanese planes heavily bombed this city where flags were flying in observance of the fourth anniversary of the Japan-China war.

The morning attack followed Sunday night's raid which left much of the city without water or lighting facilities. Several officers, including that of the Associated Press, were wrecked, but no foreign casualties were reported.

Saskatchewan Is Hit By Drought Coldwell States

OTTAWA, July 8—(CP)—M. J. Coldwell, acting C.C.F. house leader, said Monday a recent Saskatchewan tour convinced him wheat crops west of Saskatoon for the length of the province have been reduced 10 bushels an acre by recent hot weather and drought.

"Saskatchewan started out with prospects for an excellent crop out the entire province has been seriously affected in recent weeks, especially the area lying west of Saskatoon," he said.

"What gave promise of being crops of 40 to 50 bushels an acre will yield from 10 to 20 bushels less in most areas. At some points farmers are starting to cut their short, seared wheat for feed."

Tribute Is Paid Toronto Editor

TORONTO, July 8—(CP)—Nearly 1,000 friends and business associates of C. O. Knowles, editor of the Toronto Evening Telegram, paid him tribute Monday night at a $10-a-plate testimonial dinner, at which Rt. Hon. Malcolm MacDonald predicted a break-up among the German people and Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen said "distance is our great delusion."

The proceeds from the dinner went to the Telegram's British war victims' fund, which Mr. Knowles said was the "supreme reason" for the occasion. Nearly $7,000 was raised for the fund, which totalled $565,000 yesterday.

The audience paying tribute to Mr. Knowles for his organization of the fund and testimony to his 45 years as a newspaperman included leaders in all walks of life. Introducing Mr. Knowles, Lt. Col. the Rev. S. E. Lambert, O.B.E., hailed him as "a great Britisher."

British Columbia Is Wonderland for Summer Holidays

Surf-fishing, squaplaning and sailing all are popular sports which the athlete and the sportsman can indulge in to his heart's content at the Pacific coast. Expanses of salt water, set in gorgeous scenery and sheltered from the storms of the open sea, are the vacationist's paradise.

Auto Tours Are Pleasant Features of Coast Summer

Each year thousands of Edmontonians journey westward to Vancouver to spend the summer holidays. Year after year the marked development and improvements of the large coast city continue to hold the interest of the visitor.

But Vancouver "the beautiful" is one big reason why vacationists flock to the city to enjoy days, weeks and even months in its pleasant surroundings.

Bus and motoring facilities make it possible for the average holidayer to "take in" all of the important beauty spots and points of interest in the city.

A delightful expedition through 1,000 acres of primeval forest, passing trees centuries old; viewing the Shakespearian gardens, the Harding memorial, with a glimpse of Siwash rock and the memorial of Pauline Johnson, Indian poetess, may be enjoyed on the picturesque route through the famous Stanley park. Then from the glories of the North Shore mountains you turn to view Second beach, Ceperley playground, English bay, and return through Vancouver's picturesque Oriental quarter.

MARINE DRIVE

Beautiful Marine drive skirts the Point Grey peninsula and takes you to the identical spot where Capt. George Vancouver first set foot on the mainland. The beauties of the campus and gardens of the University of British Columbia on the western tip of Point Grey, and the attractive homes in Shaughnessy Heights and other residential districts, reveal the progress of the intervening years.

Another interesting trip carries you over to North Shore for a visit to Capilano canyon. The rugged mountain scenery of this journey of the north shore of Burrard inlet and famed Capilano canyon will have an appeal for everyone. You may cross the thrilling suspension bridge at the First canyon, more than 200 feet in the air. Another stop is often made at the Grand canyon. An interesting trip across the harbor precedes this drive and affords a panoramic view of Vancouver's skyline.

GROUSE MOUNTAIN

Mountains, sea and sky merge in a thrilling panorama of spectacular beauty when viewed from Grouse mountain. Perched 4,000 feet above the sea level, the chalet is modelled on lines of a Swiss Alpine lodge. Wonder and pleasure mount as you drive easily from city streets to Alpine heights.

Harrison Hot Springs offer another ideal opportunity to view the splendor of British Columbia. Nestling at the foot of majestic, wooded slopes some 75 miles from Vancouver is Harrison lake. The famous hot springs are only one attraction of this resort. acres of English gardens; a sporty golf course, outdoor sport facilities, tiled indoor hot springs swimming pool and the excellent cuisine and accommodation of the Harrison Hot Springs hotel are all found there. You reach the beautiful playground by way of the scenic north shore of the Fraser river, passing miles of fruit and dairy farm lands.

Vacation Seekers Flock To Pacific Province for Hunting, Fishing, Tours

British Columbia's newest big industry is people. In private airplanes, luxurious cars, by train, in medium family autos, or on tired feet along highways, they come.

Some carry fishing tackle and armament of all calibres. They are prepared to spend a lot of money for the privilege of rising before dawn and taking a pot shot at a bear or a moose.

Some bring the family and live in tourist camps. Some fill the biggest hotels, others stay with B.C. relatives. They throng into stores and theatres and crowd excursion boats.

In Vancouver city alone tourists are believed to represent sales of $12,000,000 a year.

So far this season thousands of vacationists from Edmonton and district have journeyed to the Pacific coast, via railways, bus lines and private automobiles.

Tourists and other agencies estimate the migration of tourists and business men from eastern Canada alone at over 150,000 a year.

It is a vast migration which is tying the provinces of Canada as no other movement could have done. As last people of the east have answered the call of the west and those of the prairie have made themselves familiar with the Pacific coast.

Motorists driving from the rest of Canada into British Columbia are increasing as well. They enter via the Crowsnest Pass, or they journey through the state of Washington and declare themselves at Blaine or Douglas. Last year some 5,000 Canadian car owners took out tourist permits. They would represent an army of some 15,000 people. Nearly 80 per cent were from Edmonton and district and two-thirds of the remainder from Saskatchewan.

New Method Adopted

LONDON, July 8.—(CP) — The Royal Navy has adopted radiography to examine recruits, it was revealed by Dr. J. V. Sparks of St. Bartholomew's hospital, in an article in the British Medical Journal. The new method includes an electrically-operated camera by which x-ray photographs can be taken at the rate of four a minute. So far more than 18,000 sailors have been examined.

The Real Thing

Britain's Labor Minister says he has two millions more men and women ready to take a hand in munitions production if there were factories and machines for them. Britain was one of the most highly industrialized countries in the world when the war began, and has multiplied its producing capacity during the last two years. The expansion that has been going on there has been going on in practically every other country. Still Britain needs more factories, and is building new ones faster than ever before.

Less than two years of war have done more to industrialize the world than would be done in fifty years of peace. The end will find an equipment of machinery and a multitude of machine-operators beyond all possible predictions of two years ago. How is this amazing production capacity to be utilized for the purposes of peace? That is the greatest of post-war problems. For twenty years we have been talking about the "machine age". It is only now arriving.

Fishing For A Bargain?

The cabinet at Tokyo is admittedly considering an extension of its territorial waters which would make it impossible for supplies from the United States or other overseas sources to reach Vladivostock. The recent neutrality agreement of course bars the way to any such act of passive hostility toward Russia. The Axis agreement does not require Japan to do so, because Russia did not attack Japan's allies. If the extension is made it will be a gratuitous favor to Hitler and Mussolini, at the expense of breaking faith with Stalin.

It would be also something in the nature of a challenge to the United States, though not direct and open. It is probably this feature, rather than qualms about breaking the pact with Russia, that causes Tokyo to hesitate and ponder. The threat may in fact be only an attempt to arrange a saw-off with Washington and with Moscow. If the United States and Russia would agree to stop sending supplies to China, the proposal to establish a virtual blockade of Vladivostock would probably fade out of the cogitations at Tokyo, whatever Von Ribbentrop might say to Matsuoka.

Japan, like its partners, is playing for its own benefit—not theirs. It was only taken into the Axis because it could be useful to them, and only went in because they might be useful to it.

Smashing His Supports

The R.A.F. bombers are ranging farther into Germany. Saturday night they bombed Magdeburg, where a Krupp branch establishment is—or was—located, only seventy miles from Berlin. They could as easily have bombed the capital itself, but obviously refrained because the munitions plants were militarily more important.

The significance of this raid to within fifteen minutes' flying of their city will not be lost on Berliners. They will have lively anticipations that one of these nights the bombers will visit them, with more devastating results than on any past occasions. They, and Germans everywhere, can hardly escape noting also that the air offensive is being carried out in a systematic way. It is not a series of haphazard blows delivered at random. It is proceeding "according to plan," to the language of the Nazi high command.

During the first two weeks the R.A.F. blasting was pretty well confined to the "invasion" coastal area and the Rhineland. Now points in central Germany are getting progressively increasing attention. The area of destruction is spreading eastward, as fire and explosion eat their way into the heart of the country. And without any sort of adequate defence being offered. That must be carrying doubt and dread into millions of minds in the central areas, the more so when Goering's boastful assurances are recalled that these were immune against serious attack.

The Fuehrer has concentrated his air force to cover his ground forces in the attack on Russia—and the sources upon which his war machine depends for supplies are being methodically blown to pieces behind him.

Behind The Smoke Screens

The news that has been coming from the new war front has been notable for what it did not convey rather than for what it did. But in that respect it has been according to precedent and in line with expectations. Readers who want to survey the distant scene will have to reconcile themselves to using their imagination to fill in the impressive blanks in the despatches, and equally to sort out the improbabilities in reports coming from more or less "authorized sources" in more or less isolated centres of rumor.

Berlin announcements of the operations have to be subjected to the discount experience has shown to be necessary in its reference to events in other theatres. Moscow has never been prodigal in dispensing news regarding Russian affairs, and the censor cannot be expected to pass information that would be either useful or pleasant to the enemy.

Neither in Germany nor in Russia is publicity based on the idea that the truth must be told. Only in democratic countries that notion prevails. In a totalitarian state the public, at home or abroad, are not admitted to have any right to information except such information as the government thinks advisable to give out. News is controlled, as everything else is controlled, with a view to making it appear that officialdom is functioning with hundred per cent efficiency.

Whatever they may think of this arrangement, readers abroad will have to bear it in mind while they try to piece together from conflicting official reports, and from clouds of unconfirmed despatches from Ankara, Zurich and other relay points, the picture of what is really going on along the new battle line that stretches across central Europe.

British submarines in the Mediterranean sank an Italian cruiser, crippled a merchant cruiser, and sank three supply ships, on the road to Libya. The Nazi forces strung across North Africa must wonder what the high command meant by dumping them down in the desert and leaving them to depend upon Benito to keep the supplies moving across the sea.

Mahatma Gandhi's former physician, a native of India, says his country will support Britain because its people want self-government and know there is no other way to get it. Under Hitler they would have no more chance than have the people of Germany, and as a weak independent country India would be only a prize for the first powerful aggressor to arrive on the scene. Even the dreaming Mahatma should be awake to these facts.

Bishops throughout the Reich have issued a letter appealing to Catholics to stand fast in their faith. They are courageous men, for the persecution they cite is evidence that they are liable to be put in an internment camp or even beheaded for daring to criticize the gangsters who rule the country. If they are not punished that in itself will indicate suspicion at Nazi headquarters that the German populace is somewhat less servile than it has been. Fear is the only restraint ruffians recognize.

Looking Backward

From The Bulletin Files

1891—50 Years Ago

For some days past, M. Neilson, chief engineer of the C. and E. railway, has been employed on the south side of the river making the final surveys for the location of the terminus of that line. Several lines were run to the bank, but the one finally chosen traverses river lot 13, the property of Thomas A. Anderson of Merrick and Anderson of Winnipeg. Gillis' grading outfit came in from their work south of the Black Mud on Tuesday and will start work on the station grounds and terminus. Madigan's outfit, for whom Gillis is subbing, moved in on the 1st to J. Irvine's place a mile and a half south of the river, and began grading both ways at once. Matheson's camp is at the Two Hills, Mann Bros., next, and Keith next. All that there is work for are now across the Black Mud and work will be completed in 10 days.

Rising Demand For The United States' Entrance Into War

Only American Manpower Can Bring Decisive Victory Soon Is Opinion

By HAROLD L. WEIR

This article does not represent the unsupported opinion of the writer. It is a compendium of views painstakingly assembled and carefully weighed. It is presented entirely without prejudice and without heat and implies no suggestion of reproach. Its sources are almost exclusively American and represent analyses by Americans of the American case.

Harold L. Weir

All the experts from whom these opinions have been gleaned do not agree on everything. Some propose one method or policy and some another. Each is inclined, naturally, towards a solution through his or her own specialty. The variety of people who have contributed towards this viewpoint is immense. Among them are secretaries of state, ambassadors, high army officers, minor army officers, meteorologists, spies, dieticians, airplane designers, a pilot who fought in Crete and two American newspaper correspondents who privately gave weeks in advance the exact date of the invasion of Russia. All these people do not agree on all things. But they do agree on one thing. It is this:

That if the United States is going to preserve that independence and that way of life extolled so heartily throughout every state on July 4, she has got to go to war and go soon.

World's Fate in Doubt

If the attack on Russia proves anything at all, it emphatically proves that Hitler is out for world conquest and, until he is beaten, will attack every country on the earth—singly if possible.

No policy on which the United States could embark today, or could have adopted any time within the past two years, offers or could have offered an American escape from war.

When Americans debate this painfully apparent fact, they merely endanger the security and defence of their country. Russia had doubts about the same thing and look at her now. Yet Russia's policy in the face of Germany two years ago was exactly the policy now urged for the United States by Herbert Hoover and Charles A. Lindbergh.

Americans who honestly and sincerely doubt the immediate and perilous threat to the United States—and there are millions of them—take issue with the most intelligent and experienced leadership in their country, of all classes and of all political stripes.

But if millions of Americans are doubtful about this thing, millions more have no doubt at all. Here is something to note and remember:

The majority of Americans who believe implicitly that the United States should go to war immediately is probably larger than any majority in favor of any contentious issue in the history of the country.

No project, upon which there was a difference of opinion, ever had greater popular support.

Aid to Britain

American aid to Britain is not effective yet and the prospects of it becoming so in the near future are not bright.

As yet, the combined output of British and American factories has not enabled Britain to mass an equality, much less a superiority, of airplanes, tanks or guns, at any front where the war is being fought.

Moreover, increased American production is likely to be offset by the raw materials that Germany may now win. It is worth repeating that Hitler does not require a total victory over Russia to get the supplies he wants. Seizure of the Ukraine and the Caucasus will do the trick.

A Nazi victory over Russia would enable Germany to concentrate, in greater security, the whole of her armed force and equipment in the Battles of Britain and the Atlantic.

She has not won that victory yet. She may never win it. But her chance to win it is good enough to make us think seriously of what will happen to Britain and to North America if she does win it.

British morale remains magnificent. But it cannot be expected to remain magnificent indefinitely if the British must continue to stand alone. No matter how gallant they are, the British are still human and will react, ultimately, if the United States dallies too long.

The United States administration, looking anxiously towards public opinion for a lead, should realize that, like that of Britain, American morale is not likely to prove sufficiently heroic until the nation is actually at war and aware that victory can only be won through sacrifices.

How far America is away from such morale is clear to people in the Old Country, even Americans themselves, when they see advertisements in American magazines for luxury articles which millions of British never expect to see again.

"Give Us the Tools"

"Give us the tools; we will do the job," is a heroic phrase but an impractical military policy.

It is a matter of truth and record that the British cannot use American tools with maximum efficiency. No superiority of tools or men is involved. It is merely that the differences of both technique and national methods are too great.

British pilots have the same difficulties with American planes that the average American has with a Rolls-Royce motor car. The American will grind the gears and skid on curves in a Rolls-Royce, while the Englishman, who drives the same car with noiseless ease, will strip the clutch off a Cadillac.

The British have as much difficulty assembling American planes and tanks as they have in operating them, just as Americans could not put together a superior type of British anti-aircraft gun until a British expert came over to New York to show them how.

American planes and tanks will be at a disadvantage in conflict with the Germans until they are manned by American soldiers and pilots.

U. S. in the War

The immediate entry of the United States into the war would have a profound and stirring effect throughout the world.

Such an entry is now the only "propaganda" that would stiffen the resistance of the occupied countries and prevent others from going over to the Axis.

Failing American entry into the war, almost every other country in Europe and Asia will embrace the New Order within a few months. With Britain and America alone, there is a real danger that the Latin American republics will race each other to climb on the Nazi bandwagon.

If the United States came in now, she would bring others with her. If she comes in only when she is forced, she will come in alone, because the other doubtful states will long since have gone over to the other side.

The Lesser Evil

These points, as I said, are not statements of my opinion. They are statements of largely American opinion gathered together with considerable care. They are the views of those Americans who know more about the situation than anyone of their nationality.

They are all choosing, very wisely, to speak plainly.

The most powerful opposition to immediate war in the United States comes from those who see danger in throwing insufficiently trained troops into the struggle.

That is a very real danger in these times when war is essentially mechanized and soldiers are essentially tenders of machines.

All the experts I have quoted, however, are agreed that it would be better to rush untrained men into the field too soon than to irretrievably lose the chance of victory by waiting until all omens are perfectly propitious.

Sometimes troops must be trained in actual fighting. It would be better for American troops to get their training while they can be allied with the seasoned British—not after there is no more Britain to pace or to inspire them.

This is the view of intelligent Americans.

I wonder what Mr. Roosevelt thinks about it?

Husbands Are Suffering

Wives In Training For Defence Inflict Grave Hardships on Their Mates

By HENRY McLEMORE

The mice of America must be an unhappy lot these days, now that there are no more women to scare.

One has only to visit a civilian defense organization such as the American Women's Voluntary Service to know that courage runs high beneath the jabots of the nation, and that girdles can encompass as much bravery as a Sam Browne belt. If an invader comes to these shores he will have to cope with women who not only will insist on the last word, but on the last punch as well. Thousands of them have enrolled for duty and they have not asked for jobs which will protect their manicures and wave sets. They are asking for—and getting—the work that is dirtiest and toughest in time of emergency. To a man who remembers when women were so delicate that they wore black silk stockings in bathing, a morning in the Voluntary Services office was a revelation. As nonchalantly as if they were opening a new charge account women signed to be motor mechanics, ambulance drivers, air raid wardens, radio operators, nurses and incendiary bomb dousers.

H. McLemore

The girls aren't fooling, either. I am living proof—or, more accurately, half-living proof—of that. My wife is a recruit and is now in the middle of a first aid course, a required study. Neither Johns nor Hopkins ever applied himself more assiduously to the practice of medicine than my wife has to her practice on me. Nearly every husband I know in New York is serving as a patient for his wife, and like me, they are showing signs of wear and tear. If the invader is long in coming, we, the husbands of first-aiders, won't live to see our gals get into action.

Husbands' Tricks

Have you ever been resuscitated when you felt as good as you ever did in your life?

Have you ever tried to fill your pipe with a bed sheet tourniquet on your arms?

Have you ever limped around your home in lovingly but misapplied splints?

The Florence Nightingale touch is entirely missing in our home. My wife obviously considers Florence a sissy and has adopted an approach to the patient patterned after Strangler Lewis' methods. She doesn't stroke a brow; she bangs it, and gives you a drink of water as if she were putting out a fire on top of your head.

This morning she reached the chapter in her Red Cross textbook that has to do with snake bites. I am positive her instructor meant to have her skip that part, because the chance of snakes being adopted as a means of warfare is very slight. But a friend who has completed the course told her questions concerning snake bites were part of the written examination, and she was taking no chances.

"Act as if you had been bitten by a snake," she commanded me when I had finished my breakfast coffee.

"What kind of snake?" I asked.

"The poisonous snakes in the United States are the coral snakes, the pit-vipers which include the rattlesnake and copperheads and cottonmouth moccasins," she read from her manual. "Take your choice."

According to instruction I stretched out quietly and allowed my best neckle to be tied firmly around my left leg, just above same fang marks which she had drawn on with a fountain pen.

"How are you?" she said, feeling my pulse. "It says here to 'sterilize a sharp knife or razor blade and make a cross-cut incision one and one-half by one and one-half inches at each fang mark'."

Hobbled as I was I jumped to avoid too much realism and headed for the sideboard. My foot had gone to sleep and I stumbled. This was taken for a sign of shock and she leaped at the chance to treat me for this.

"And furthermore," she reprimanded me as she started thumbing her manual, "It won't do you a bit of good to keep making those wild passes at the sideboard. Because it says here 'whisky is not a good stimulant in these cases'."

I'll have to admit that the women of my country are pitching in and doing a swell job. But there is no denying that they are making it a little tough on two groups of us—the mice and the men. The mice can't scare them and they scare us.

Franco A Spanish Gentleman

El Caudillo Is Either Violently Loved Or Just As Heartily Detested

By "VERAX"

Franco has been endowed by Nature with many amiable qualities, and he radiates instinctive charm. He attracts by virtue of his enthusiasm and fervor, by the confidence that he imparts to those around him, and by his exceptional qualities of leadership. He is short in stature, stocky, square-shouldered and a little inclined to corpulence. His features are finely chiselled, his head is nobly set, his nose is slightly hooked, while his eyes are keen and penetrating, but very human. Supple and agile, he is a good horseman and an exceptionally good shot with gun or revolver. His resistance to fatigue is phenomenal.

The Caudillo loves the good things of life, but he has always used of them sparingly. He eats with relish, likes an occasional cigarette, and his motto is: Even in abstinence, no extremes. Franco is the simplest of men and the directness of his manner impresses. He is unaffected and genuine, and takes a childish pleasure in giving joy to others. He is a warm friend, a loving and faithful husband, and a doting father. He allows his heart and sensibility to rule, but permits himself no weakness.

Moral Fortitude

The Caudillo possesses not only exceptional physical courage, but that rarest of gifts, moral fortitude. He is far-seeing and often displays an uncanny perception of coming change. "Prepare slowly, but act quickly" is his motto. He sums up a man at a glance and pursues what he wants with more than ordinary steadiness and sagacity. His intelligence is of a high order. He is a great reader and possesses a prodigious memory.

Franco's life has been one of constant risk and adventure. A keen soldier, he soon tired of the monotony of a garrison life at home. Across the sea was a land where Spaniards were waging a grim battle. He volunteered for service in Morocco. The young lieutenant served first in the Regulares, then in the Spanish Foreign Legion. He rose rapidly. He was the youngest major, the youngest colonel, the youngest general in the Spanish army, and he thoroughly deserved this rapid promotion. He called a new army into being, he led it to conquer El Rif.

Highly Honored

Franco returned from Africa to Spain a famous man. Indeed he was now, as Lyautey had called him, "somebody who counted." At home, honors awaited him. Alfonso XIII received him with great distinction and Spaniards were eager to mark their regard for one whose signal achievements had restored the country's prestige. I have dwelt at some length on this phase of the Caudillo's career, because it was in Morocco that he served his apprenticeship. It was there, also, that he won the ascendancy which was later to stand him in good stead.

Franco won the civil war, primarily through his military genius, secondly because the majority of rural, traditional and conservative Spain was on his side.

So much for the past. What of the present and future? Franco is a Gallego, and Galicians are reputed for their political astuteness. He has skilfully succeeded in temporarily harmonizing the aspirations of the various heterogeneous elements supporting his movement: monarchists, regionalists, centralizers, syndicalist nationalists, republicans and liberals. The new Spain is undoubtedly totalitarian, but this totalitarianism is based on tradition, and respect has been paid to regional claims, so long as these do not endanger the unity of the country. Once the new State attains its full stature, it will proceed to decentralize such functions as do not really belong to it. And municipalities will be granted more liberties.

Would Free Labor

Franco is determined that labor shall be freed from its slavish subjection to capital. Workers will participate in the benefits and share in the increase of production. They will be provided with better houses, better hygiene and a more adequate living wage, but they will not be allowed to organize themselves in a sectarian spirit. The Caudillo does not want to see Spain once more undermined by the loss of strength consumed in sterile conflict.

Every Spaniard is to work according to his capacity. The same consideration will be shown to agriculture, and every laborer will be settled on the land he cultivates. Franco also proposes to reform education, to develop insurance, to rebuild the devastated areas, to strengthen his fighting services, and lastly to set Spain's financial house in order. His task in herculean, and it is further aggravated by the fact that the country is in sore need of foodstuffs and is economically hard hit.

Franco's prestige has risen rapidly since the war began because of his firm, constant and prudent policy. In spite of the strongest pressure on the part of the Axis, he has kept out of the conflict. And even when Hitler's power had reached its peak, he quietly declined to let German troops pass through Spain last September. It can therefore be assumed without undue optimism that he will continue, as before, to adhere to his policy of non-belligerence. The Caudillo is a patriot, and his one thought is to heal the terrible wounds that are delaying the work of reconstruction. His country is not yet at the end of her suffering.

Francisco Franco, soldier by inclination, dictator by accident, is either greatly loved or detested, extolled to the skies or bitterly attacked and reviled. Stability is the one thing that Spain yearns for; and this stability the Caudillo, so far, has provided. The majority of Spaniards have accepted the new authoritarian rule because of its necessity. I believe that Franco can establish his regime on a permanent basis, if only he can pacify and unite a nation whose strong individualism has often proved a detriment.

Memory Shirts

AUSTRALIAN PRESS UNION

Inspired by constant thoughts of her only son, who fell at Bardia, a Sydney woman has designed "A.I.F. Memory Shirts" as a tribute to every Australian soldier who goes to war.

Since early January, when she received news of her son's death, Mrs. F. D. McCay, of Rose Bay, has been working in a munition factory gauging bullets.

She says that every hour's work there makes her sadness a little easier to bear. It was during this time that she resolved to design the Memory Shirts.

From the sale of the shirts, Mrs. McCay will set aside a sum for the battalion with which her son fought and died.

The design, drawn by Mrs. McCay, comprises an outline of North Africa, palm trees, airplanes, shell-bursts, tanks, Australian soldiers, mosques, villages, a view of the Mediterranean, and the place names of Bardia, Tobruk, Libya and Derna.

It is gaily coloured after the style of Hawaiian shirts. Later, pyjamas and silk scarves will be manufactured.

"I dedicate the design to all wives, mothers, daughters and sweethearts of men of the A.I.F." Mrs. McCay said. "In years to come I hope the shirts will be valued as souvenirs of the battles of North Africa—and of the other victories which will come."

Save Nickel

Editor, Bulletin: Since the big nickel coin is frequently mistaken for the 25-cent silver coin and is the cause of much dispute and misunderstanding, would the government not be well advised to call them in and substitute a smaller coin of some other material and use the much wanted nickel for war purposes?

What would be the probable savings?

Conscription

Editor, Bulletin: I believe any conscientious objector, or any young man in his health or strength who listened to the words spoken by those two great men, "Winston Churchill" and "Bishop Wells," on a recent Sunday, and then had the nerve to get behind some smoke screen excuse for not defending his own, and thousands of other helpless human beings' liberty from slaughter, is past understanding.

"Let us have conscription!" It is, I think a fair and just way of putting everyone on an even keel. I again say, "Let us have conscription!"

Hitler, the gutter rat is heading this way and must be stopped. This can be done by every able-bodied man enlisting to fight this monster. It is a duty that behooves us all.

It worked, the driver took him aboard.

Mrs. G. Rostrup Dies In Calgary

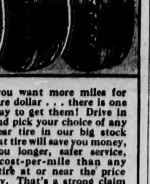

Carstairs district was shocked by the news of the sudden death of Mrs. Gunhilda Rostrup in Calgary Sunday. Born in Norway, Mrs. Rostrup came west 29 years ago and resided at Rosthern, Sask., later moving to Stettler. She came to Carstairs nine years ago and has been an active worker in the church and Red Cross.

Surviving are her husband, Ormund Rostrup, and two daughters, Ruth and Dorothy, of Carstairs; two sons, Rostrup of Edmonton, and Gunner, in Montreal.

A large number of friends from Carstairs and district attended funeral services which were held from the Foster and Foster chapel, in Calgary.

Crossfield district suffered late last week one of the worst hailstorms of recent years. It was accompanied by an electric storm that disrupted light and power services for a few hours, and rain that in places reached cloudburst proportions. The hail struck in areas both east and west of town, cutting down the wheat to such an extent that many farmers are planning to plow it under and hope to include it under the acreage bonus plan. Some of the later sown crops will recover sufficiently to make a fair yield but the rest will be good only for feed.

The Ladies' Aid of Dog Pound held a strawberry festival recently when nine cases of strawberries were served, proceeds amounting to $36.

Looking Them Over

JACK KELLY

AMATEUR sport throughout Canada is breathing easier today with the announcement at Ottawa that the new 20 per cent excise tax will not apply to leagues and sporting events not operated for profit.

That has always been the intention of the Dominion government—at least if reported statements by cabinet members are correct. Apparently though the instructions sent out at first to tax collection officials did not make this point clear.

There should be no misunderstanding on the matter. Canadian sport is ready and anxious to do its part in the war, but the majority of amateur sport could not carry on if obliged to pay a 20 per cent tax, or, to put it more correctly, that extra touch at the gate would cut attendance to a point where the gate receipts would not pay operating expenses.

The men giving time, effort and much of their own money to keep amateur sport going, feel that by doing so they are making a real contribution to Canada's war effort. Repeatedly the Dominion government has declared that it holds the same view.

The Painless Touch

HORSE RACING, however, is one sport in which the tax touch can and is being made painlessly so far as the public is concerned. The Dominion government has imposed a new five per cent tax on all parimutuel bets this year. When you push two dollars through the wicket for a ticket, 10 cents of that sum is immediately put aside for the tax.

However, if your horse finishes out of the money, your two dollars is gone and you never feel the 10 cents taken for war funds. On the other hand, if your choice wins, you get more money back than you wagered and naturally don't miss the tax deduction.

In this connection you might give a bit of thought to the suggestion that national sweepstakes be sanctioned under rigid government control during the war years. Worked on the same general plan as the Irish sweeps, each one would contribute a certain percentage to the government's war funds and the prizes be given in Victory bonds or war savings certificates.

One or two of these sweeps might be operated each year for the War Services Fund, a couple more for recreation funds for the armed services, and so on. It would be a mighty popular and effective way of raising money.

There are of course some objections to such a plan, but then there are also many strong arguments in favor or it, and in war time you can't have everything just exactly the way you want it. Sweepstakes may technically be construed as a form of gambling, but it is the least objectionable form of all. Gambling is legal at race tracks. Many church organizations operate housie-housie games and draws for quilts, and these also may be construed as mild forms of gambling. The stock market is a gamble—in fact just about everything in life is a gamble.

Thisa And Thata Data

LOU NOVIKOFF, the widely publicized "Mad Russian" that the Chicago Cubs recently sent down to Milwaukee of the American Association, is burning that loop up. At the end of last week he was batting an average of .519. In one double-header he was at bat 11 times and hit three homers; a double and three singles.

You will recall that the Cubs forced Novikoff to play with them for $6,000—less than he was making on the Pacific coast in one way or another. Could it be that Lou is taking this way of showing the Cubs that if they want him to hit for them in the majors they will have to pay him more money.

The General Assembly of Illinois has just passed the McGrath handbook licensing bill—a bill that will legalize bookies in every city and town in the state if Governor Green does not veto it. Strong pressure is being exerted on Green for him to exercise his right of veto. The bill seems to be another round in the battle between the gambling interests and civic and state governments in Illinois. The bill would be a powerful whip in the hands of civic and state officials, enabling them to collect a toll from bookies and at the same time control them.

Hogan Shoots 71 In First Half Of Qualifying Round

DENVER, Colo., July 8.—(AP)—Dark horse Harry Bassler and experienced campaigner E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, neither ranked among the top heavy starting favorites, battered par into submission Monday to share the lead at the half-way mark of 36-hole qualifying trials in the 1941 United States Professional Golfers Association championship.

Each clubbed a 68, three under par for Cherry Hills, to lead a parade of 99 entrants in the pros' annual ball belting festival to determine the headman of their organization.

Par for the water-trapped mile-high layout with its lightning fast greens is 35-36—71. Bassler, from Los Altos, Calif., moved out in front with a 31-37. Harrison turned in the most consistent round. He put together a pair of 34's with a blazing flurry of birdies and a par.

Starting favorite Ben Hogan, the Texas-born marksman, ended in a tie at par 140 when Henry Ransom, young fellow Texan from Fort Worth.

One shot behind the leaders reside Sammy Snead, the 1940 Canadian open champion. The Virginia cannon ball roamed the outgoing stretch in 33 and came home with 36.

Craig Wood, winner of the United States open title last month, coupled a pair of 38's for his 76.

Derringer Sues For Eye Injury

TAMPA, Fla., July 8.—(AP)—Paul Derringer, ace pitcher for Cincinnati Reds, alleged in a damage suit Monday that his playing efficiency had been "greatly reduced," as a result of an eye injury suffered when he struck his head against a scaffolding in a Tampa electrical supply store here November.

Derringer is suing Raybro Electric Supplies, Inc., for $65,000 on the ground that the scaffolding was "negligently and carelessly" placed above the door after he entered and that "no warning of the obstruction was given to him when he started to leave."

First papers in the suit were filed in April but the declaration, setting forth the basis of the action, was not filed until Monday.

East Boxla Clubs Run Into Trouble

ORILLIA, Ont., July 8.—(CP)—Decreased attendance at their home games has forced Orillia Terriers to withdraw from the Ontario Lacrosse Association, it was announced Monday.

Club officials said lack of first-class playing material forced Terriers to play in the senior "B" group of the club this season instead of the senior "A" group where they played previously.

Last week St. Catharines Athletics, dominion champions, withdrew from the senior "A" series when the association upheld a decree that Doug Cross must play with Hamilton this year. Last season he played with Hamilton but this year he refused, declaring he preferred to play with the Athletics.

In the final game Edson was victorious over Rosevear to a score of 8-7 retaining the Fowler cup and taking first money.

Rosevear batteries were R. Wagner, C. Baliuch and E. Fahrion.

EDSON LINEUP

McNairin, Hendrick, King, Sulak, Welles, Hendricks, Armstrong, Drozdeak, Currie, Patrick.

Stettler Shots Lose To Gadsby

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

STETTLER, July 8.—The Gadsby Veterans' Volunteer Reserve defeated the Stettler Veterans' Volunteer Reserve for the second time in a return shoot here Monday night.

The Stettler organization met the Gadsby organization at Gadsby on the preceeding week.

Ten members of each organization participated in the competition. High scorers during the challenge were: R. A. (Cap) Everett, C. Greiger, I. McIver.

The Stettler club came up from over 3 points below in the first competition to only five points below in the second match.

Plans for a future best three out of five series were discussed.

D. Porter of Stettler presided over the evening's events.

Dempsey Will Help Recruiting

OTTAWA, July 8.—(CP)—Jack Dempsey, one-time world heavyweight boxing champion, will appear tonight at a recruiting rally staged by the Ottawa citizens' recruiting committee, officials announced Monday. After the rally he will referee a wrestling match at Hull, Que.

Young Pitchers on Farms Make Cardinal Boss Happy

ST. LOUIS, July 8.—(AP)—Branch Rickey, general manager of the Cardinals, still can smile even though the club has lost five straight. He thinks about those young pitchers on Cardinal farms.

"We are developing successfully enough fine hurlers to eliminate worry in that department for some time to come," he said Monday. "They're not all youngsters either.

"Remember Hy Vandenberg? He's coming back, no doubt about it. He's pitching great ball for Rochester. Hy has lost only two games, won six or seven; but the main thing the batters are not hitting him. You'll see Vandenberg back in the big time.

WATCH THIS GUY!

"That goes for Al Hollingsworth out at Sacramento of the Pacific Coast League, too. He's got himself 13 games so far in a league that's always produced heavy sluggers.

"But Rickey's real pride rests in the ability of some of the newcomers.

"I'll name you five pitchers who have never been seen in the major leagues and whom batters are going to wish they never had seen.

"They are: Albin Jurisich and John Beseley of New Orleans in the Southern Association; Fred Martin and Howard Pollet at Houston in the Texas League and George Munger of Sacramento.

JUST ABOUT READY

"These lads are just about ready for the big time. Martin has won 14 games with but one loss; Pollet has a dozen victories while dropping only two.

"Then there are John Grodzicki and Murray Dickson with Columbus of the American Association; Hank Gornicki and Herschel Lyons with Rochester. And, say, we've got some fine boys in the lower leagues, too.

"Out in Springfield, Mo., of the Western Association, Cliff Hopkins and Syl Donnelly are going like gossip. Hopkins has lost two games, won about 16. Donnelly has only one setback against 13 victories.

"There are many more. All I can say is—our pitching worries are over for some time, yes sir."

Movement Stopped

VICHY, July 8.—(AP)—Enrollment of French volunteers in an anti-Communist "crusade" corps for the German war against Russia was said Monday night to have been stopped in the occupied zone. The reason was not given.

Ohio Horse Ties World Trot Mark

TOLEDO, O., July 8.—(AP)—The world's trotting record of 2:11 for a mile and a sixteenth was equalled by Harold Wilson, a brown horse, in the 11 class trot Monday night, opening Fort Miami track's second week of Grand Circuit racing.

The record was previously shared by Bill McKinney and Earl's Moody Guy. The latter horse joined the record circle here last week.

Harold Wilson took both heats of the event under the capable driving of Ernie Smith. Harold Wilson, by Joe Wilson - Charlotte Todd, is owned by A. J. Stambaugh of Ada, O.

The feature race of the evening, the two-year-old trot was won by Frank Spencer with Ben White at the reins. The victor took the heat by a half length over Pay Up and Don Juan.

Rival Strategists

In the top panel is Bill McKechnie, boss of the National League all-stars, and in the bottom panel is Del Baker, pilot of the American League all-stars. McKechnie believes in finesse while Baker relies on the American League's traditional technique of power. Baker has one of the most powerful lineups ever to represent the American League for today's all-star game.

Chisox Manager Claims Umpiring Not Up To Mark

President William Harridge handed down the suspension Sunday, saying that Dykes used "obscene and abusive language" to Umpire Steve Basil when he was banished from Saturday's game with Cleveland Indians.

Dykes said before leaving the city that he wrote a wire to Harridge Sunday but was talked out of sending it. He said it read thusly:

"Thanks for the suspension. Now why don't you suspend some of those incompetent umpires as a favor to the league and the fans?"

Dykes charges neither of the umpires working Saturday's game were in position to see the play in question. He charged players in the Cleveland bullpen interfered with right fielder Taft Wright's efforts to catch a foul fly.

Mioland Favored In Hollywood Cup; Challedon Drops

LOS ANGELES, July 8.—(AP)—Challedon, not yet in shape after a long layoff, will not defend his Hollywood gold cup championship, leaving the well-trained Mioland a firm favorite.

Mioland drew top weight of 130 pounds for the 1¼-mile $75,000 stake to be run July 19.

L. T. (Whiley) Whitehill, who trains Challedon for W. L. Brann, announced withdrawal of the pride of Maryland as owners gathered to hear assignments of the weights.

Second high weight of 124 pounds went to Charles T. Fischer's Sircon, winner of the Arlington classic. The sensational Whirlaway, a three-year-old, was saddled with 122 pounds—eight over scale for his age.

The weights seemed to favor Howard's Porter's Cap and H. S. Nesbitt's Starelor, a pair of three-year-olds. They drew 114 pounds apiece.

Lacombe Breaks Even With Airmen

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

LACOMBE, July 8.—Penhold Air Force and Lacombe Avery's softball teams broke even in a double-header played before a large crowd at Aspen Beach, Gull Lake, on Sunday afternoon.

Air Force took the first game 11-14, with Lacombe Avery's taking the second encounter by 11-10. Birkavich and Gillis were the battery for the Penhold team in the first game, while Gulliver, Leggett and E. Todd were a winning combination for Lacombe in the second fixture.

Singers Will Battle Leafs Tonight for Second Place

SECOND place in the Edmonton Junior Baseball League standings will be at stake when the Singer Clothiers and Maple Leafs tangle at 6:30 p.m. today at Renfrew Park.

Both clubs have two wins and two losses. Leafs will have their pitching staff at full strength tonight, having had no games since last Friday. Singers on the other hand used both Darrah and Ornest in their Sunday game against the Canadians.

The Clothiers have been hitting better each game and this should pretty well offset the edge which the Leafs will have in pitching power. Play is steadily tightening up in the Junior League and tonight's game may develop into a rousing battle.

Five Left Handed Batters Arrayed Against Bob Feller

By JUDSON BAILEY

DETROIT, July 8—(AP)—A powerful batting American League team headed by the greatest pitcher now in baseball, Bob Feller, was chosen Monday to try to repulse a cagy, slick-working National League foe in today's ninth annual all-star extravaganza at Briggs Stadium.

A full 24 hours before 57,000 fans settled down to watch a "dream game", the two managers who matched wits in the World Series last fall, Del Baker of Detroit, and Bill McKechnie of Cincinnati, began jockeying for a strategical advantage by announcing lineups with a surprising variance in their capabilities.

McKechnie chose a castoff American Leaguer, Whitlow Wyatt of Brooklyn Dodgers, who has the best record and one of the fastest balls in the senior circuit, for the National League's starting pitcher and then backed him up with a batting order that presented a solid front of five lefthanded hitters at the top.

A CANNY SCOT

The secretive Scotsman who masterminded the National League to victory in the Charity game at Tampa, Fla., a 4-0 triumph in the big all-star clashs at St. Louis, and the Reds to world championship last year, chose his tentative first line Monday with the same disregard for ordinary procedure that paid off so well in the past.

He organized a fine fielding combination while at the same time ignoring this season's batting averages to throw a tormenting array of portsided hitters at the American League's great righthander.

Baker was more orthodox in ordering up his heaviest artillary at the expense of slight fielding and his success in getting five .300-plus hitters on to one team caused odds here to be lengthened and the American League made a 9 to 5 favorite.

WILLIAMS CLUB HITTER.

Baker put Ted Williams of Boston Red Sox with his .406 batting mark in the cleanup sp and Joe DiMaggio, of New York Yankees, with his stupendous batting streak of 48 straight games, in third.

The complete American League batting order as planned by Baker is Joe Gordon, of New York, or Bobby Doerr, of Boston, at second base with Gordon the most likely; Cecil Travis, of Washington, a .357 hitter, at third base; Dimaggio, also batting .357 in centre field; Jeff Heath of Cleveland in right field with a .371 mark; Joe Cronin, Boston Red Sox manager and a .338 hitter, at shortstop; Ruddy York of Detroit, whose average has dropped to .295, on first base; Bill Dickey of the Yankees, a .330 hitter, catching, and Feller pitching.

WON 16, LOST FOUR

The speed ball specialist of the Indians has a record of 16 games won against four lost and is considered potentially one of the outstanding hurlers of all-time. He has been knocked out of the box in his last three starts because of a weakening of his control, but he has made two relief appearances in all-star games with great success.

Wyatt, 32 years old, served stretches with Detroit, Chicago and Cleveland in the American League before reaching the Dodgers and his present great pitching form.

He has won 13 games and lost four to become the pitcher of the year in the National League. In making the choice of Wyatt ahead of his own Bucky Walters of the Reds, McKechnie no doubt considered the fact that an American League umpire would be behind the plate for the first 4½ innings today.

The Deacon emphasized that the lineup he disclosed Monday was only tentative and it appeared that one or two changes were almost certain.

NATIONAL LINEUP

The lineup he announced has Stan Hack at third, with a lusty .310 average; Lonnie Frey of Cincinnati, a .238 hitter, at second; Peter Reiser, the league's leading batter with .360, in centre field; Johnny Mize, St. Louis' .348 slugger, at first; Mel Ott, New York Giants' home-run king and a .292 batter in right field; Bob Elliott of Pittsburg, batting .289, in left; Eddie Miller of Boston, .241, at shortstop; Mickey Owen of Brooklyn, .257, catching, and Wyatt pitching.

Owen has not been in a game since he was struck on the head by a pitched ball several days ago and hardly is likely to choose an all-star affair as the occasion for a return to action. Hank Danning of New York Giants probably will take his place although the veteran Al Lopez of Pittsburg also is available.

PASSED UP VAUGHAN

At the same time McKechnie, in marshalling his lefthanders into action, overlooked Arky Vaughan of the Pirates, a former National League batting champion and at present an even .300 hitter, in naming his shortstop. Miller had highhanded and is 30 points weaker on the offensive.

Baker, in contrast to McKechnie, declared this afternoon his policy on changes would be "very few if we are leading.

He said that Thornton Lee, fine southpaw of Chicago White Sox, would follow Feller to the mound and the Detroit Tigers' pilot was believed favoring Young Sid Hudson of Washington Senators for the concluding trick. All-Star rules allow a pitcher to work only three innings.

McKechnie said Walters would be his No. 2 pitching choice, but would not go farther than that. Last year he used five pitchers, changing every other inning.

VANCOUVER, July 8—(CP)—Percy White of the Vancouver Kinsmen's Club announced Saturday that Stan Horne of Montreal and Jules Huot of Quebec have agreed to an east-west exhibition golf series here with Fred Wood of Vancouver and Stan Leonard of Calgary for the benefit of the Canadian Red Cross society. Hugh Duffy Still Holds All-Time Batting Mark

ALL this pointed palaver about who propelled which baseball with what sort of quarter-staff for how many consecutive times and at what period in history affords your correspondent a golden opportunity to get up on the soap box with his hardy perennial about the greatest baseball hitter of all time.

That's right—the answer furnished by the bright-eyed gentleman in the back row with the full beard and the ear trumpet. Duffy's the name. Not the name of the respondent with the facial hay and the old gramophone horn, but the name of the super grand-daddy of them all in the public and highly scientific art of popping that onion.

Hugh Duffy was the fellow. He did it 47 years ago.

Of course, the term "greatest batter" could probably stand some definition. Babe Ruth exploded 'em farther and higher, Ty Cobb, like Abou Ben Adhem, led all the rest more often. But the ballplayer established the highest batting average of all time in a regularly constituted season of more than 100 ball games was Hugh Duffy of the Boston Nationals in 1894. In 124 games back there 47 seasons ago, Duffy branded a batting average of .438 into the book.

It's still there, like the flag, after 47 terrific years, despite the tempestuous assaults of all the Cobbs, the Speakers, the Hornsbys and the Ruths. Wee Willie Keeler hit .432 for Baltimore in 1897, but nobody's really come close to knocking it out since. Hornsby made the most serious threat. He smacked out a .424 figure in 1924. The nearest American League challenge was a virtual tie between George Sisler and Ty Cobb. Both hit .419. Cobb in 1911; Sisler in 1922.

A ONE-MAN COOPERSTOWN

SO Duffy's record is still around, and what makes this always a sweeter story to write, so is he. His name and his fame are no yellowed statistic exhumed from the old files with a typographical billduke, and he is no fragile museum piece on tottering limbs with whole paragraphs of history written in the parchment of a wrinkled face.

No sir. Hugh's as spry as a cricket and as solid as a brick. He's a walking, one-man Cooperstown, almost the living last of a legendary lot. He coyly avoids any mention of the number of his years, but he started playing town team baseball 60 years ago. You can do your own figuring from that. The rest of us have to.

Duffy was a Saturday in the minors. In Chicago, Pop Anson switched him to third base, but Anson had a theory that only big men could play baseball and Duffy, for all his 160 pounds, looked about the size of a flea. He was going along all right, but Anson scarcely ever looked at him, until Billy Sunday, later world famous as the evangelist, was sold out of right field to the Pittsburgh team. Duffy was switched to ping that zap until somebody bigger could be found. They never found that somebody. Duffy was dynamite from there on.

The whole history of baseball is tied up in his life. He spanked that .438 in 1894. The year before it he hit .378. In fact, he was considered one of the most dangerous hitters in baseball for almost 10 years. He's known them all and can discuss them all. He can still see Tommy McCarthy, King Kelly, Jimmy Collins, Herman Long, Bobby Lowe, Al Spaulding, Ed Delehanty, Nap Lajoie and the rest of that historical company up there at the plate and can tell you where and how they differed from the hitters of today.

FINDING RIGHT ADJECTIVE

AND one thing about Hugh is that he doesn't belittle the hitters of today. He'll tell you that a lot of these modern sticksmen could have made those teams of yore, and he'll tell you which ones and why.

Hugh is a sort of coach-emeritus with the Red Sox these days. He doesn't push his way in much, but he's available if anybody wants to ask him something. Two neophytes amongst the Red Hose decided to ask him. One was an eldering utility man named Lou Finney who could field it all right but couldn't hit a lick. The other was a temperamental quivering sort kid named Ted Williams who in the quiet and understanding Duffy found something of sympathy and encouragement he couldn't get elsewhere and apparently sorely needed.

The old man took both these youngsters as his particular assignment. He studied their styles and he made some suggestions. Finney made the league's leading Red Sox regular. His savage hitting was a last season sensation. Williams is the champion batsman of the major leagues at the moment with a better than .400 through the complete run of games.

We are inclined too often in this life, undoubtedly, to forget about the old folks, to consider their stuff obsoleted and their advice a waste of time. Here's living testimony that the past can carry over in a field where you'd figure it all the other way.

The Duffy mark is still up there and the Duffy system of inspiring has it still making daily history in the box scores. If you can top 'em all for 47 years, the adjective is "greatest," isn't it?

EXPLANATION OF TODAY'S CARTOON

FATHER OF THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS: The real father of the League of Nations was Pierre Andre Gargaz, who served 20 years as a galley slave in the harbor of Toulon for a murder of which he claimed he was innocent. While he was serving his sentence he conceived the idea for a little booklet entitled "A Project of Universal and Perpetual Peace". He contrived to send the manuscript to Benjamin Franklin, American Minister to France in Passy. In his manuscript he outlined the idea of a League of Nations, sitting in Lyons, France, consisting of the representative of all the sovereigns, to arbitrate in all international disputes. He also advised the construction of canals on the isthmus of Panama and Suez. Franklin published Gargas' manuscript in 1782, and it was this idea that was put into effect by Woodrow Wilson.

Ottawa Declares No Tax Intended on Amateur Sport

OTTAWA, July 8.—(CP)—Department of revenue officials said early today it was certain that teams of the Interprovincial Football Union, Ottawa Senators and other teams of the Quebec Senior Hockey League and Ottawa City Hockey League teams will be exempt from the 20 per cent excise tax recently imposed on tickets of admission to sporting events.

A short time before Col. W. F. Hadley, president of Ottawa Forum Ltd., said he had received official notification from the revenue department that amateur sporting events at Ottawa Auditorium would not be subject to the tax.

One department official said that the government does not intend "to tax any amateur sport where the association is not operating for a profit." Recognized professional sport, however, would be subject to the impost.

DETROIT, July 8—(AP)—The American League voted Monday to rescind its rule against a pennant winner making trades, effective at the close of the present season.

Simon-O'Gatty Fight Off Again

NEW YORK, July 8—(AP)—The Abe Simon-Joe O'Gatty fight was postponed again Monday night, but they're going to keep on trying.

Rained out last Monday, the bout between the oversized New Yorker and the Newark, N.J., heavyweight was set back a day and then put off until last night when someone forgot to get a pair of boxing gloves big enough to fit Abe's hands. When it rained again yesterday, the bout was postponed until July 21. Another card already had been arranged for next week.

Mrs. Cooke Takes Two Tennis Titles

NEW YORK, July 8—(AP)—Rain interrupted the Eastern United States clay court tennis championships again Monday, but didn't prevent Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Cooke from winning two titles—one before the shower and one after.

The sixth ranking women player in the United States took only 35 minutes to deprive Virginia Wolfenden, youthful San Francisco player, of her single title, 6-1, 6-1. Then, after the downpour had cancelled the rest of the day's program, Sarah teamed she had won the doubles title with Margaret Osborne of San Francisco by default.

Mrs. Cooke and Miss Osborne were to have played Mrs. Louise Raymond Ganzenfuller and Mrs. Millicent Hirsh Lang, but Mrs. Ganzenmuller withdrew because of another tournament commitment.

Goes Wildcatting

TYLER, Texas, July 8—(BUP)—Former heavyweight champion Jack Dempsey is in the oil business. The Manassa Mauler is preparing to drill a wildcat test, in partnership with his former ring sparring partner, Bob Mandel. Dempsey is backed by the Gulf Company, which owns the lease on the land where the former champ will drill.

Coal Fed Swine Said To Be Best By Local Expert

VANCOUVER, July 8. — (CP) — Dr. T. Lloyd Jones, animal pathologist for Alberta provincial government, told delegates to the 24th annual meeting of the Pacific North-West Veterinary Medical Association here Monday that "coal fed" pigs are fatter and have better "bloom" than others.

Dr. Jones was principal speaker at Monday's session of the three-day convention attended by 100 delegates from Oregon, Washington and British Columbia.

Dr. Jones said that pigs thrive on Alberta coal but fail to fatten on coal mined in the state of Iowa. "Many Alberta farmers have coal outcrops," he said, "but other less fortunate farmers buy it like any other feed. Ground limestone and sulphur are good for hogs, also, but they will not touch it unless mixed with the more palatable coal."

SOME HEAT

If an ordinary coin could be heated to the temperature of the interior of the sun, life could not exist within thousands of miles of it.

Doris Barr Turns in Fine Relief Chucking Performance

Displaying a peppy brand of softball, Regina's Army and Navy Bombers turned back the Big Orange Buffaloes 4-3 at Kingsway Park on Monday night. The Saskatchewan champions were beaten 3-2 in 10 innings by the local Army and Navy All-Stars here last Thursday.

Doris Barr, who relieved Red Scott after the Buffs had collected five hits and three runs in three frames, really did a swell job of chucking. This blonde pitcher did not allow a hit in the six innings and struck out seven batters, giving only one walk.

PILOT VETERAN AT 21
Canadian Desert Air Ace

By GODFREY ANDERSON

WITH THE ROYAL AIR FORCE IN THE EGYPTIAN WESTERN DESERT, July 8—(AP)—A Canadian boy, who came to London with just $8 and joined the R. A. F., when he became tired of washing dishes in a Strand restaurant, is now, at 21, one of the ace reconnaissance pilots of the western desert.

The pilot officer, a doctor's son from Battleford, Sask., resembles a youthful Jack Dempsey. Service regulations forbid disclosure of his name.

BAGS ITALO BOMBER

The hero of several close calls, he has fought in England, France, Greece, Syria and Libya. His latest exploit was last Friday when he shot down an Italian Savoia bomber near the Mediterranean Island of Rhodes while flying a Glenn Martin ship.

"I hope it was crammed with generals," he told the mess on his return. He got the Savoia a few days after rejoining his squadron from a hospital. While bombing Vichy troops near Beirut in the Syrian campaign, he got a bullet in the head and several shrapnel splinters around the eyes.

He is one of the few pilots to bail out successfully with a parachute at 300 feet. After Dunkirk his Blenheim fell victim of German anti-aircraft fire. He waited till every member of the crew had bailed out and then jumped himself.

He hit the ground with such force that he lost consciousness and recovered to find himself 25 yards from the burned machine. After travelling south for four days with streams of refugees he learned France had capitulated and he returned to England in a "borrowed" French bomber.

DARING FEAT

One of his most daring feats in Libya was to shoot up Benina airdrome, flying a Glenn Martin so low the bottom of the fuselage skimmed the ground. German troop-carrying aircraft were all over the field and the sight of such a large number of Junkers-32S lined wing tip to wing tip was "too good to miss."

"Let's wreck 'em," the Canadian cried as he dived to attack. Several planes burst into flames and German soldiers who scattered were mowed down.

"They closed up like penknives and toppled over," he said.

The officer, who had been a miner, lumberjack and horse trainer as well as dishwasher before he joined the R.A.F. in 1939, had a chance to return to Canada after his recent wounds in Syria but refused.

CAN'T LEAVE DESERT

"You can't leave it," he said, gazing over the desert. "If I went home I'd be sitting down to a good steak, but I'd think of the boys out here and be miserable, because I'd not be with them.

"There's one thing I wish you'd tell the boys back home. Their ideas of an Englishman are often all wrong. The English are tough nuts, but you've got to live with them to know it."

His determination to see things through in the desert may be strengthened by the fact there's a pretty English girl in Cairo he hopes to marry in September.

AIRMAN IDENTIFIED AS PO. WM. LEWIS

BATTLEFORD, Sask., July 8—(CP)—The young Canadian airman whose exploits in the western Egyptian desert are the subject of an Associated Press dispatch today is undoubtedly PO. William "Bill" Lewis, the son of Dr. G. H. Lewis and Mrs. Lewis of this town.

Doctor Lewis, medical superintendent of the Indian agency here, was away on a visit to one of the reservations this morning, but Mrs. Lewis said there would be no doubt as to the identity of the Canadian pilot.

"It's Bill all right," she declared, when some of the airmen's exploits were recited to her. She added that neither she nor Doctor Lewis had received any word from their son since March and they did not know he had been wounded.

BROTHER INSTRUCTOR

Harry, a brother of the boy who has become an R.A.F. ace, is flying instructor at an R.C.A.F. school in Manitoba. Their father, Doctor Lewis, was for many years medical officer to Indians in the North-West Territories.

As a medical officer, he saw service on three fronts in the first Great War—the Balkans, Suvla Bay and France. Later he accompanied the Siberian intervention expedition as dietician. His schedule was worked out at the war office in London under personal direction of the late Sir Ernest Shackleton.

Before he moved to Battleford, Doctor Lewis was medical superintendent of the Saskatoon city hospital.

Today's War Moves

intense at this time far from signifies that Britain contemplates an early attempt. It will take some time for Lord Beaverbrook to speed up tank and mechanical production up to the point where Britain could hope to cope with Germany's superiority. The British are merely taking advantage of Hitler's preoccupation in Russia to strike while the striking is good.

From all accounts, Britain is striking a punishing blow despite losses. The object is not only to partly cripple German war production, but to make the German bases in the occupied Channel countries untenable, so that a British invasion could be possible.

However, Hitler has not thrown all his mechanised and air forces against Russia. He would have to leave himself sufficient protection in the west.

The course of the British air raids indicate that he actually did leave himself insufficient airplanes at the start. In the light of subsequent events, Hitler's withdrawal of his air forces from Sicily suggests he even weakened his Mediterranean offensive power for the Russian venture.

PARTLY REMEDIED

Now, however, Hitler apparently has partly remedied the defect. When the British air campaign began, the reported ratio of German plane losses to British was about 3 to 1. Then it became 2 to 1 and, finally, about even.

That might mean Hitler has recalled some of his air force from Russia to protect his western holdings. He may have inflicted such losses on the Soviet air fleet that he could afford to do so. Still, it would tend to weaken his striking power against Russia, because Soviet planes apparently still are in the air. At the start the Soviet air force, while not as efficient as the German, probably was numerically as great, or almost as great.

In Hitler's form of lightning war, a preponderantly superior air force is needed to blast the way for his advancing panzer divisions, and to protect them.

The Iceland occupation bears on the future land clash between Britain and Germany in several ways. It is expected ultimately to release about 80,000 Empire troops for service in England. (The fact that it is reported they are to be withdrawn gradually indicates no immediate plans for an expedition to the continent.)

It frees important units of the British navy for duty closer home. It also should provide better protection of the sea lanes over which the sinews of war must flow from the United States.

Interpreting War News

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

If Nazi propagandists are correct in stating that the German schedule calls for smashing Russian defences in the west within six weeks, it is obvious that the next week or 10 days must see a crisis in the vast battle.

More than a third of the supposed Hitler time allotment to his armies has served only to bring the antagonists to grips in the centre of the Stalin line. Vague Nazi statements say the line has been "pierced" at several undisclosed points; and Nazi propaganda agencies have promptly translated the word "pierced" into "broken." Presumably it is on the road to Moscow and possibly also south of the Pripet marshes in the Novograd Volynsk area on the direct route to Kiev that the claimed German penetrations of the Stalin line have taken place.

There is no indication in either German or Russian accounts that Russia's major defence system from the Baltic to the Black Sea has been reached elsewhere, except in the extreme north in the Pskov-Ostrov sector. That thrust at Leningrad from Estonia is dangerous but far less critical for the Red Army than the Moscow and Kiev drives in the centre.

Lacking any intimation either of the location or depth of the claimed Nazi penetrations of the Stalin line in the centre toward Moscow or Kiev, it is impossible as yet to gauge the significance of such developments. Presumably the Russians have labored over the years to build especially deep defences there.

The huge western bulge of the Dnieper river from north of Kiev to the south of Orsha in the north, a distance of some 400 miles, buttresses the whole Russian centre east of the Pripet marshes. The Stalin line, with the marshlands as a vast outwork in front, was laid out to conform to that north-south river barrier in the centre.

While the Germans seem approaching it just north of the marshes in the vicinity of Bobruisk on the Berezina river front, it seems clear that their main attacks are focussed on turning the Dnieper line at Orsha in the north and from Novograd Volynsk in the south. Those are obviously the most vulnerable points.

FAR FROM BROKEN

The Dnieper bends sharply east in the vicinity of Orsha. There is a wide salient between the Dnieper and the Dvina unprotected by a river line. It lies between Orsha and Vitebsk and it seems probable Nazi forces are trying to break through the Stalin line there if their effort to cross the Dnieper at Orsha or south of that town is held up, as Moscow claims.

Presumably the same situation prevails south of the junction of the Pripet and Dnieper rivers, north of Kiev.

It is clear as this is written, however, that no decisive Nazi rupture of the Stalin line has yet been achieved and that the Red army, despite losses in Poland, is far from broken.

Apparently it has managed to fall back all along the front to the Stalin line. By holding up the Germans for two weeks it has permitted heavy reinforcements to come up for defence of that system in the vital centre. Thus, the Soviet "buffer" defence has proved effective to an extent as yet beyond estimation.

"Aid British" Week

ALBANY, N.Y., July 8—(AP)—Governor H. H. Lehman Monday proclaimed July 14-20 "Aid British Labor Week." He called for support of "the appeal of American labor for funds to be sent to the British Trade Union Congress for relief purposes."

TILLEY EAST DISTRICT BENEFITS

Province Cancels Farm Relief Advances, Tax Arrears

Action Taken In Area Set Aside For War Use

Seeking to facilitate rehabilitation on new locations of settlers in the British bloc of the Tilley East area, the provincial government is cancelling all agricultural relief advances and arrears of taxes to a limited extent on lands being transferred to the Dominion government. Announcement of this was made Tuesday by Hon. N. E. Tanner, minister of lands and mines. The land is being transferred for use as a proving ground for explosives, artillery and mechanical equipment and totals 700,000 acres.

The amount involved in the government cancellation program is not yet available, but it is known, it will be a large sum. Cancellation of the debts in question will be effective for 1936 and succeeding years. The province, under this plan, proposes to cancel such agricultural advances as seed grain assistance and arrears of taxes in respect to settlers receiving $1,500 or less for the holdings they are giving up.

Farmers who are receiving $1,500 or more for their holdings and who owe the province for agricultural advances and tax arrears are having their cases dealt with in respect to the amount to be cancelled. There are about 125 families in the area concerned who will have to find new locations.

Lt.-Col. Goodwin Gibson, Ottawa, representing the real estate branch of the department of national defence, has established a Medicine Hat office to negotiate agreements and to set compensation for the families who have to move. If agreements cannot be made with individuals, their cases will be referred to the Exchequer Court of Canada.

Edmonton R.C.M.P. Marksmen Win Championship Of Canada

SGT. A. FORD — CPL. D. C. MIGHALL — CONST. M. R. BLAIR — CONST. M. R. EATON

Above are four members of the five-man team from headquarters of "K" division (Alberta) of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in Edmonton, who won the open revolver championship of Canada at Montreal. They outshot some of the Dominion's best marksmen from civic and provincial police forces and investigation departments. The team posted a score of 1,941 out of a possible 2,000, which called for shooting of eight targets, deliberate firing at 20 yards at a two-inch bull on four of them and rapid firing at a short target at 12 yards, five shots in 25 seconds, on the other four. The team made the possible 1,000 in rapid fire. Individual scores of the team were: Sgt. A. Ford (captain), 392; Const. M. R. Blair, 385; Const. M. R. Eaton, 390; Cpl. D. C. Mighall, 388; Const. A. Waters, 386. Second place in the competition went to Saskatoon City Police with a score of 1,886.

Fair Grounds Are Prepared For Exhibits

Edmonton's Exhibition Association's ground staff went into high gear this week putting the finishing touches on the grounds in readiness for the 63rd annual summer fair and the last for the war's duration. The fair opens Monday, July 14, for one week.

Gangs of men were busy getting the exhibits in the different buildings into position, while others were working on the roads and boulevards. Throughout the grounds the flower beds and lawns have been receiving special attention and never before have they appeared more beautiful.

The grounds will open on Monday at 1 p.m. to the general public, with the official opening scheduled for 8 p.m. Hon. James A. MacKinnon, federal minister of trade and commerce, has accepted the Exhibition Association's invitation to formally open the fair.

CHILDREN'S DAY

Monday will be Children's Day and special arrangements are being made to give the kiddies a thoroughly enjoyable day. They will be admitted free to the grounds and special prices will prevail on the Midway and at other attractions.

J. W. "Patty" Conklin has provided a special kiddies amusement park on his midway in which the very latest children's rides will be available. In addition to this service Mr. Conklin has engaged a staff of trained assistants who will take care of the children while attending this amusement park.

In the Manufacturers' building will be housed a magnificent commercial exhibit, also an exhibit of the Alberta Society of Artists, the salon of the Amateur Camera Clubs of Western Canada, a display of Alberta minerals by the Alberta and North West Chamber of Mines and the models entered in the model aircraft competitions.

In the farmer's building the ground floor will be devoted to the provincial government's institutional display and health department exhibits, including cancer, mental hygiene, hospitals and social hygiene. The upper floor will house the competitive exhibits in handicrafts, arts, needlework and cooking.

A magnificent display of indian work will be shown in the Manufacturers' building annex. The Nativity exhibit will be housed in this building also. The handicrafts exhibits will be shown in the Handicrafts building immediately north of the Manufacturers' building.

The finest work of the school children will be on view in the School building. "This is an exhibit of which the association is justly proud," stated P. W. Abbott, K.C., managing director of the Exhibition Association.

Wounding Charge Dismissed Here

Charge of wounding Stanley Kordyback by shooting him with a pellet from an air rifle laid against Nick Komick of Edmonton, was dismissed in city police court Tuesday. Evidence was established showing that the incident was "purely accidental."

Kordyback, appearing on the witness stand, stated that he and a companion had been playing with air rifles June 23 and were shooting at a shack near their homes in North Edmonton.

While Komick aimed at a barn in the distance, the witness stated, young Kordyback, a mere lad of the older boy, shouted that he was going to "shoot him". As Komick turned, Kordyback's rifle discharged and a pellet struck the youth on the cheek. Startled, Komick discharged his rifle and the pellet struck young Kordyback in the eye.

Physician who attended the Kordyback youngster told the court that the boy was developing a cataract in the eye and would eventually go blind unless operated upon.

The case was dismissed with a warning to parents to observe care in permitting children the use of air rifles for play-things.

THE QUESTION

Biggest news of the day is the United States occupation of Iceland by its armed forces, relieving Canadian and British troops needed elsewhere. Does this move foreshadow more activity in the struggle by our big neighbor to the south?

THE ANSWERS

SGT. BEN DUCLOS, city police; I certainly think the U.S. will be more active from now on. Moving in on Iceland shoves the frontier of North America a lot closer to Europe and it also beats one Adolf Hitler to the punch.

W. RICHARDSON, war veteran, Three lusty cheers for Uncle Sam. He certainly showed Hitler that two can play at this get with the getting's good game and the U.S. knows how to move first and talk afterwards, too. This will throw the German timetable further out of gear.

HELEN FITZSIMMONS, student: Taking over the protection of Iceland means it is dead certain that there's another country that Hitler won't take "under protection" first. I think you'll see the U.S. move quickly in many parts of the world from now on.

Cyclist Slightly Hurt In Accident

Harry Kruk, cyclist, of 10347 98 street, received minor injuries late Monday afternoon when he was struck by a car operated by Jack Peters, 9808 110 street, police reported Tuesday.

The Kruk youth was cycling with a friend north on 97 street, Peters told police, and did not signal his intention to make a left turn. A companion signalled, and Peters, to avoid striking Kruk, turned sharply, striking a glancing blow at the rear of the bicycle. The car was slightly damaged.

Kruk was removed to the Misericordia hospital by a Jack Hays' ambulance. He is expected to be released in a few days.

In police court Tuesday Peters pleaded guilty to a charge of dangerous driving and was fined $15 and costs or 21 days' imprisonment.

Getting Around

with JOHN OLIVER

A GOPHER stole the show for a few fleeting minutes on the main boulevard. For a brief period the burrowing resident basked in the calcium glare of publicity and the spotlight was focussed on it. Then, the period of glory terminated; the spotlight disappeared—and so did the gopher. There was a time when gophers were not uncommon sights in most sections of what is now the city. As the city advanced the ground squirrels or land tortoises, as they are variously known, retreated. Now it is seldom that the main part of this fair capital is graced by the presence of even one of the number.

On Monday the gopher in question popped out of the used car lot of the Price-Drayton organization on Jasper, just west of 104 street. It turned east and then paused by the curb in front of the building at the corner. It surveyed the passing traffic, apparently a little bewildered. Next, it did an about turn and headed into a candy store where it ran around the feet of two gentlemen engaged in conversation. They helped it "shoo" it out. The rodent headed back for the street and to the used car lot. I don't know what happened after that.

Our good neighbors to the south of the international boundary could equally use the term "Gopher" in reference to a resident of the state of Minnesota, the same as a Nova Scotian is always a Blue Nose, an Irishman a Paddy and every Murphy is "Spud." However, it is only as a nickname that the Minnesotans are known as "Gophers." The good points of the fuzzy-tailed things, according to my friends learned in the industry of agriculture, are few and far between while their demerits on occasions have become so numerous—as have the creatures themselves—as to cause governments to place a bounty on them.

However, the lone member of this family that made its appearance on Jasper Monday, didn't seem to be a very dangerous character. It seemed a bit bewildered by the rapidly moving automotive traffic going in both directions in front and to one side of it. And when it was chased from the store and a few pedestrians on the sidewalk watched its hasty retreat to the used car lot it seemed happy to enter the asylum and sanctuary provided thereby.

Arrival of hot weather has given a big boost to the ice cream business. Every day thousands of children and adults are seen either partaking of their cones on the street or in having ice cream alone, or as part of a "sundae" at some fountain. How fortunate to be able to enjoy this cooling, refreshing, nutritious food. Among the many luxuries that those in Britain have had to give up on account of the war, is ice cream, as rationing has cut off the sources of supply of cream.

Along with other things which cannot function for their normal purposes are the municipal horses. A use has been found for them and a good one too. More than 100 large freezers and insulated trucks have been lent by manufacturers to the Ministry of Food for production of gland extracts and other preparations formerly imported. The making of insulin is among the wartime by products now fostered by the government. A system is being developed for the employment of all such resources. Well, at least we know a good use to which freezers can be put, if our cream supply is cut off. Perish the thought.

Saskatoon Man On Walking Tour Of 2,000 Miles To B.C. Valley

A walking tour of 2,000 miles in two months. That's the ambition of Brian King, 'cellist and lay preacher of Saskatoon. Brian left Saskatoon at 2 p.m. last Wednesday, arrived here Sunday at noon, and plans to be in the Okanagan Valley in British Columbia by July 15.

He wants to "catch some apples as they fall from the trees in the Okanagan" and then return home to Saskatoon by September 1. He prefers walking to hitch-hiking, but doesn't refuse a lift when one is offered him.

At points along his route, Mr. King stops and conveys greetings to the mayor or reeve from Mayor S. McEachern of Saskatoon. He also shows them a letter from the Saskatoon board of trade, signed by Commissioner S. Johns.

PROMOTION AGENT

It's all part of a publicity idea for Saskatoon, with Mr. King as the promotion agent. He wears a green jacket, with a large "Saskatoon" crest on the back, and another small crest with the wording "The Hub City" sewed on his sleeve.

Brian has found the people very nice along the route so far, spending some time at Biggar, Wilkie, Cimmore and Wetaskiwin before arriving in Edmonton. Here he presented his credentials to acting Mayor A. Blair Paterson. He's staying with his brother, Const. T. King, of the R.C.M.P. Total cost of the trip so far has been only a nickel, said Mr. King.

33 MILES A DAY

His route to the Okanagan from here will be via the Jasper-Lake Louise-Big Bend highway. He plans on returning by way of Banff, Calgary, Drumheller and into Saskatchewan. If he walks the entire route he figures he has to average 33 miles a day.

He considers his method of travel the only one by which to gain firsthand information about people and the country. If this year's jaunt to the Okanagan proves successful, he plans on a similar three-month trip through the United States next summer.

Presentation of the past president gold medal was made to Emil Gashan, first president of the Anglican Young People's Association on Sunday evening. The presentation was made by Rt. Rev. Canon H. Gower following the open-air religious service of the Interdenominational Young People's association at the Legislative buildings grounds.

During the past week about 3,000 persons have registered at the Alberta Motor Association's auto camp in South Edmonton, camp officials said Tuesday. This figure was 1,000 higher than that for the same period last year. Most of the visitors during the past week were from eastern Canada, Ontario in particular. Some only stayed overnight, but many stayed for several days in cabins, tents and trailers.

T. H. McGuire, Montreal, vice-president Turkish Tobacco Ltd., went on the witness stand Tuesday in the hearing of charges against 36 manufacturers, wholesalers and jobbers on "tobacco combine" charges now proceeding before Mr. Justice S. J. Shepherd and a jury. He testified with respect to correspondence with company supervisors relative to the company's selling policy.

Annual vacation for provincially-employed industrial workers from three to two weeks, with pay, has been announced by the public works department. In explanation of this action, departmental officials pointed out that under existing conditions, it was deemed advisable to reduce the holiday period. This action is applicable to caretakers and janitors in public buildings as well as carpenters, blacksmiths, painters and others. Office staffs are not affected.

Two Olds district farmers have been added to the list of those convicted of illegally using purple-colored gasoline in their automobiles, according to provincial secretary's department officials. Police obtained the convictions in the Olds area and the two farmers were fined $5 each and costs, as well as having their cars impounded for 10 days. The purple-colored gasoline is supplied on payment of a gasoline tax of one cent a gallon instead of the regular charge of seven cents a gallon. This special concession is granted only on agreement that the less-taxed fuel is used in farm machinery operations and not in a pleasure car.

R.C.A.F. Wings

Sgt. Pilot Earl Sherman, R.C.A.F., of Fort Saskatchewan, who received his wings recently at No. 5 service flying training school, Brantford, Ont. He has two brothers, Walter and Charlie, also in the R.C.A.F. Earl was active in young people's tennis movements and an outstanding hockey and tennis player here and at Fort Saskatchewan.

Through The Mill

You've got to have a license nowadays to do almost anything, including going on the bum. A couple of worthies who appeared in city police court Tuesday, faced with vagrancy, didn't have any such permission and their humming was purely their own idea. Both of these boys had been doing the work for quite some time and they each had a record that was plenty long. Now something else is going to be plenty long—their stay at Fort Saskatchewan. One received three months and the other six weeks.

Another interesting case was that of a man who had inherited the running out of a local department store with a pair of women's shoes and stockings and a leather billfold. When the police asked him for his registration certificate he didn't have it. In court Tuesday he told as how he'd had the certificate in a coat that he'd loaned to somebody else who had joined the army, so that the coat and the certificate are at the armories. It didn't work. He got four months for the thefts and $5 or seven days for the lack of registration card.

Two women and a man made their appearance in the docket to charge a young fellow with dangerous driving. They said he'd shot past their car the other night, with the result that his car splashed mud all over them. It was awful, they said. Then the young fellow had his turn. He said he'd tried for about a block to pass them, had sounded his horn both gentlemanly and otherwise, and finally passed them in the middle of the street car tracks. The cadi dismissed the case.

Airmen's Paper Is Filled With Revealing News

Air force trainees at No. 2 observers school and No. 16 elementary flying school have their own newspaper, a monthly entitled "Grumble 'n Gossip."

The paper, edited by LAC. George H. Knott, meteorologist at the school, is a lively chronicle of doings of the air force and of the school as well as a prickly posting on the private lives of the airmen.

Here's Grumbly 'n Gossip's description of one Aussie: "A wonderful vocabulary, but the molecular theory doesn't impress them one atom." Other notes on other airmen are even more revealing.

Besides the intimate items the paper carries a good budget of news, amply illustrated with pictures.

Old-Timers Will Picnic Wednesday

Recruiting Is Nearing Quota For Province

Total enlistments in this city since the current recruiting drive opened on June 4 last were increased to 1,078 when 26 men went before medical boards at the Prince of Wales armory Monday.

With the recruiting drive officially closing next Saturday, it is expected that Canada will raise 32,000 men, which is the quota set for the drive. Of this total, Alberta is asked to raise 4,100. This city and district have made up more than one quarter of the provincial allotment.

Intensive efforts are being made throughout the entire country this week to attain the total. More than two-thirds of the quota have been obtained to date.

The men enlisted here represent the combined activities of the Prince of Wales Armory and the downtown recruiting centre. Large numbers have been congregating each night outside the centre seeking information on the army and various phases of life therein.

The Call to Arms issued last week and the circulation through the northern section of the province of recruiting parties representing units of the Edmonton Garrison, has aided in maintaining the high average of daily enlistments here.

London Women Keep Interest In Fashions

Norman Hartnell's Summer Show Is Interest Centre

LONDON, July 8.—(CP)—Clothes rationing may cut down a woman's wardrobe but it hasn't dimmed her interest in fashion. Lorgnetted dowagers who haven't missed a "show" in 30 years and attractive members of London's younger set to whom the right gown may mean the difference between social success and failure, turned out in full force to see Norman Hartnell's summer collection.

They all knew that one flowing evening gown might cost a year's clothes coupons—96—but pretty dresses always attract women, especially when they are designed by the Queen's dressmaker.

Behind Hartnell's fashionable Mayfair studio it was hard to realize there was a war. The display was scheduled for mid-afternoon and 50 chairs, all tagged with names of the women invited, were filled before the first mannequin appeared.

There was no formality to the introduction the name of the gown—"Tip Top," or "Toujours," or "Argentine."

TRIM, SERVICEABLE

Day dresses were trim but serviceable. Many were worn with matching jackets, embroidery was used freely and furs were popular. Square shoulders and below-the-knee skirts were the general fashion.

Square, low-neck fronts and high backs featured most of the evening dresses. Sweeping skirts trailed along the ground, some revealing just a glimpse of leg through 18-inch slits up the side.

Almost one-fourth of the land area of the United States still is in forests.

New York Is Self-Claimed Fashion Centre

Mayor LaGuardia Declares His City Fashion Heart

NEW YORK, July 8—(AP)—New York city on Monday proclaimed itself to be the successor—on certain points—to Paris as the world's fashion centre.

The price means nothing. You can get a day dress for $1.95 or an evening gown for $295.

In ceremonies at the city hall mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia put the "New York Creation" labels in 20 dresses designed for the fall trade. Mayor La Guardia declared triumphantly:

"New York has assumed the leadership because the creative talent is here, the skill and mechanical talent is here and there are more women in our country wearing pretty clothes than in any other country in the world. New York city is the fashion centre of the world from now on.

"For a long, long time it was believed that a dress, in order to be fashionable, had to be designed in Paris. That is not true."

PUBLIC WITH TASTE

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, who participated in the ceremonies, said it was necessary to have a public with taste in order to support a fashion center, and she credited the Works Progress Administration with elevating the country's taste.

The New York Dress Institute, whose 700 manufacturers make about 18,000,000 of the country's annual output of 90,000,000 dresses, and the International Ladies' Garment Workers' union are promoting a campaign to make the American republics alert to New York creations.

Dorothy Dix Says:

Dear Miss Dix—I have always heard the saying: "When you meet Mr. Right you will know it. There will be no doubt of that in your mind," but the adage doesn't work out with me, for I have met a man who is very fine, thoughtful and personally attractive whom I feel I might care for very dearly, but I don't know whether he is Mr. Right or not because of his grammar.

Dorothy Dix

He says "have saw" and "had went" and things like that. But apparently he knows better for when I appear to notice them he corrects himself instantly. Being rather scholastically inclined myself, these mistakes annoy me and I am often conscious of embarrassment in his company.

So I am beginning to wonder if after all, his lapses in grammar would not cause friction between us should we marry. ANXIOUS.

Answer—I think it is a great mistake for a woman to marry a man whom she regards as her inferior in any way. It seems to be a law of Nature that a woman must be able to look up to her husband in order to love him and be happy with him.

There is no difference between the sexes that is more clear cut and definite than the way they regard this matter. Men, taking them by and large, for, of course, there are some exceptions, prefer women who are their inferiors and they do not seem to mind their wives being of a lower class than themselves. At any rate, we all know dozens of brilliant and cultivated men who drag about with them dull and dowdy wives who murder the king's English, who never know what to say or how to say it, or find their way among the tea cups in a drawing room. Yet their husbands seem perfectly content with them and appear never to notice their blunders.

But the educated and sophisticated wife of an uncouth husband is burned up by his every mistake, and the matter which to her virtues he has his lack of culture makes a bar between them, and that eventually separates them from each other. For it is not in feminine nature for a wife to let well enough alone and keep her hands off of her husband's faults. She is bound to make him over, so she commences to try to polish up her rough diamond. She corrects his grammar and his pronunciation and his table manners, and tells him how to talk and act, and supervises his conduct like a school misress until she makes him self-conscious and afraid of her.

For this isn't what he married for. He thought his wife admired him and was proud of him, and when he finds out that she doesn't, and isn't, that she considers him crude and ignorant and is ashamed of him, it not only kills his vanity, it slays his love for her. You will never find a marriage a success in which the grey mare is the better nag. Hence it is a catastrophe for both the husband and wife when a girl marries a man to whom she feels superior.

Your Figure, Madame!

By IDA JEAN KAIN

If you are trying to string along mainly on sandwiches and iced tea during the heat waves, don't blame it all on the weather because you feel as limp as a wilted lettuce leaf. A better diet will make you feel better.

Summer menus frequently fall far short of measuring up to the nutrition yardstick. The edge is off your appetite and you are not especially interested in what you eat. But while you need less fuel, you require just as many of the protective elements for the internal processes go on as usual.

KEEP MEALS SIMPLE

So that there will be less work in preparation and also less for the digestive system, the menus should be kept simple. You don't need five-course dinners or too many foods rich in fats or proteins, which are heating. Fresh vegetables, whole grain or enriched bread, a moderate amount of lean meat, eggs, milk and fresh fruit in season make a good Summer diet.

If you are used to having hot food at each meal, it is better not to switch suddenly to all cold foods. A good rule is to always have one hot dish.

When you are feeling the heat, don't gulp down a couple of glasses of iced water or any other cold beverage. The shock to the nerves of the stomach is too great. Whether a hot beverage or a cool one is the more cooling depends on the humidity. If the air is hot and dry, it is conducive to evaporation and a hot beverage which induces perspiration proves cooling. But on the days the air is filled with moisture, a cool drink is better because body heat is used to warm the liquid in the stomach. It should be drunk slowly, however, and not gulped down.

If you work or play hard in the Summer and perspire freely, you may need a bit more salt in the diet to offset that which is lost in perspiration. But if you use salt generously and do very little physical exercise, there is no reason why you should need more.

Our Summer menus are especially apt to be low in the requirements of Vitamins A and B1, and the minerals calcium and iron. This deficiency is easily overcome by having a green vegetable every day, plus a green salad, enriched or whole grain bread, an egg, and milk—skim milk or buttermilk when you are trying to cut calories. The liberal use of fresh fruits and vegetables which are abundant at this season furnishes ample Vitamin C.

If you would like to drop a few pounds of excess fat, the following menu is low in calories, but nutritionally perfect.

What To Do

My sister is having her baby christened and wants to have a friend from a distant city be godmother. Is it proper to have some one else serve as a proxy, as the friend cannot come to the christening?

Answer—It is quite proper to ask some one to serve as proxy. In this particular instance it would be impossible for the person selected for godmother to attend and a proxy may be called. The parents themselves may be proxies if they are unable to find any one else.

Frequently people feel slighted when they are asked to be proxies, but they shouldn't feel that way and should act in this capacity unless they have a very good reason not to.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

During hot weather we have to be unusually careful of the cleanliness of both foods and the utensils in which they are served. If we made an extensive daily use of a microscope, we wouldn't have to be told that everything we use is swarming with bacteria of one kind or another, happily, most of them harmless to us. But babies haven't become immune to all the different varieties of bacteria, and we have to give them a chance to grow immune gradually.

One mother said, "When shall I be able to stop sterilizing the baby's bottles and nipples" to which there is but one answer. So long as baby takes his food by bottle and nipple these have to be sterilized daily. Once he can drink all of his milk by cup, it is permissable to wash the cup with the clean soap and water used for the dishes, provided this washing is finished by a thorough scalding with boiling water daily.

We have to be careful about washing the milk bottle when it is delivered daily. Run water over the whole thing and wipe carefully. Then nothing from the outside of the bottle can possibly contaminate the hands or the milk when it is poured for the children's use.

Playthings which fall around on the carpet need constant washing. Everything goes into baby's mouth without the slightest discrimination as to its edibleness and we can't run any chances of his picking up infection when he licks his familiar toys.

Fruits need to be washed well before eating. Vegetables which already are cooked and stored away in the refrigerator can be brought to a boil the second day and then allowed to cool to a comfortable temperature.

Every little bit of food that is stored in the icebox deserves a clean china or glass dish with a cover, in order to keep it in a condition suitable for eating.

These precautions sometimes can be ignored when the weather is so cold that bacteria increase slowly, but in summer—which is fine growing weather for everything, we have to be liberal with soap, water, boiling water, and unusually careful about adequate refrigeration. It is only by such means that we can protect small children frim unnecessary illness.

Our leaflet, Care During the Summer, will be mailed to you free, upon request. Simply write to me in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, three-cent-stamped envelope for mailing the leaflet to you.

You Soon Learn Piano In This Short-Cut Way

Music Adds to Vacation Fun

When you can play the piano, what a magic card of introduction you can take on vacation! Popular tunes win you a welcome anywhere.

It doesn't take long to learn to play them. A clever chart, picturing life-size the most used part of the piano keyboard, will help you to read music quickly.

Right with each pictured key is its music staff note, so that you can see at once what key to strike for each note.

Then you can speed up your learning of popular pieces this way. Instead of playing all the notes in treble and bass, sometimes difficult to do, play the melody line with your right hand and harmonizing chords with your left.

What chords to play? You quickly learn basic chords, by numbers which correspond to numbered keys on your piano chart. The bar from "Swanee River" shown with our sketch gives you the idea. You can play those few chords (and a few more) throughout the piece.

Have the fun of playing the piano! Our 24-page instruction book, including piano keyboard chart, shows you how to read music, play chords in every key. Has three pieces for practise.

Send 15c in coins for your copy of Quick Course In Piano Playing to The Edmonton Bulletin Home Service, 60 Front street west, Toronto, Ontario. Be sure to write plainly your Name, Address, and the Name of instruction book.

Debunker

It is surprising to know that in this enlightened age, there are several thousand fortune-tellers bleeding the people of this country. It is impossible for any one to really foretell the events of any person's life, and it is pure waste of money to pay these people to "open up your future." Fortune-tellers hand out generalities and vagaries which are nothing but bunk. Save your money and drive these racketeers out of business.

Complete victory was won by Marion Talley, star of opera, screen and radio, in her bitterly fought divorce battle with her husband, Adolph Eckstrom. Not only did Superior Judge Ingall W. Bull award Miss Talley a divorce and sole custody of her six-year-old daughter, Susan Eckstrom, but he cleared her of the charges of multiple immorality which Eckstrom had hurled. Miss Talley and her daughter, Susan, are shown above, after the court's decision was rendered.

This British bomber crew, top right, damaged a German pocket battleship Luetzow with an aerial torpedo and so painted a picture of their prize on the nose of their Bristol Beaufort bomber, bottom right, alongside a swastika denoting a previous victory over a Heinkel bomber. They have named their torpedo bomber the "wreck." The crew are from left to right, Sergeant C. T. W. Downing, wireless operator air gunner; Flight Sergeant R. H. Lovett, pilot; Sergeant A. H. A. Morris, of Nokomis, Saskatchewan, air gunner; and Sergeant P. Wallis-Pannell, air gunner. These three Royal Air Force men and their Canadian air observer have been flying together since March as one of the famous Royal Air Force flying teams. A close-up of Sergeant Observer Morris of Nokomis, Sask., is shown, left.

A cottage on the shore of a tree-lined lake with opportunities for fishing, boating, swimming and other warm-weather recreation provides the kind of summer holiday which is essentially Canadian. But life in a cottage sometimes means a lot of work owing to the lack of city conveniences, which is the reason for the great popularity of such resorts as Devil's Gap and French River where visitors live in cottages which are as well serviced as hotel suites. The simple life, with all the informality and ease which the expression implies, is the watchword at these two famous Canadian Pacific resorts. Mother is relieved of the cooking, daughter of the dish-washing and sonny of the lawn-mowing, while father dresses in his oldest and most comfortable clothes to pursue his own peculiar ideas of summer life. There is a strong family resemblance between Devil's Gap Lodge, near Kenora, and French River Chalet bungalow camp, on the Canadian Pacific Toronto-Sudbury line. In a beautiful section of lakes and forests, they offer endless possibilities for recreation. No part of Canada has better fishing, and there are facilities for tennis, golf and similar sports. Great expanses of water and wooded country make exploring a pleasure, by canoe, motorboat, automobile, horse or on foot. Although there are amusements for every member of the family, the most popular sport at these resorts is fishing. That is because the fishing is so good. Pickerel, pike, sturgeon, plus those scrappiest game-fish of the Canadian water-world, the muscalunge and the small-mouth black bass are found in abundance. Both districts have produced record fish, the most outstanding of which was the 60½-pound muscalunge caught by J. J. Coleman, of Evansville, Indiana, in Eagle's Lake, east of Devil's Gap, in 1939. That one holds the worlds record.

To emphasize the importance of Canada's industrial production in national war effort, the Canadian Ford company is including several fighting machines in their display at the major exhibitions and fairs in Western Canada, this year. In the above photographs three of the 20 types of Ford military vehicles are shown in action on the company proving grounds at Windsor, Ontario: (1) 8 Cwt. Army Truck, (2) Field Artillery Tractor, (3) Universal Carrier. These rugged units will be included in the extensive Ford exhibit of passenger cars, commercial trucks and farm tractors at the Edmonton Exhibition. All told the Canadian automobile industry has supplied Empire armies with more than 115,000 vehicles for military use and of this total more than 75,000 have been produced in the Canadian Ford plant.

Heroic Eagle Britain Salutes

Britain's newest hero is 19-year-old Gregory Augustus Daymond, above, youngest member of the American Eagle Squadron of the R.A.F. In a bombing attack on Lille, farthest point into France that British air fighters have penetrated, two German Messerschmitt planes went for the bombers, which the Eagles and other British fighters were guarding. Daymond broke up their attack, downed one German plane, although his own had been severely damaged by gun fire.

Shown to the door by Sumner Welles, under-secretary of state, Constantin Oumansky, Russian ambassador to Washington, is patently pleased as pie over U.S. stand on Russo-German war.

Fourth Year Just 365 More Days In China

Geography has made a stalemate of the four-year-old war between China and Japan. Harassed by guerrilla fighters in pockets within the occupied area of China, and unable to penetrate the interior, Japanese forces made even fewer gains in 1940-41 than in 1939-40. Only major Nipponese occupation of the year was in northern French Indo-China. It is estimated war has cost Japan $4,000,000,000 so far.

An unwelcome guest at Jetta's house, Kay finds Barry is not at the mine, learns to distrust Jetta. DICK MORROW, Barry's secretary and other employees. Gilbert, also seeking Barry, takes a job at the mine under an assumed name. Bill Stanley to be near to protect Kay, whom he learned to love on the way out to Nevada. MEL-ODDY, Kay's Chinese maid and her brother, Wu, seem to be her only friends. Kay and Stan have a secret meeting. Jetta in a fit of temper, threatens Kay. Next morning she seems to have forgotten it and invites Kay to ride with her and Dick Morrow. At the top of a long climbing trail they stop. There they see Barry's plane approaching. Jetta lands immediately takes a horse and rides into the hills, followed by Jetta. Kay tries to follow but loses their trail. At midnight Jetta returns, unable to find Barry. Melody tells Kay Stan wants to meet her secretly again at 2.30. Morrow asks Kay to go for a walk. Morrow locks her in a guest house, leaving Jetta free to find Barry first. While Jetta and Dick lead the miners in a search for Barry, Corinne, Jetta's maid, drugs Kay and has her carried from the guest house. Gilbert, suspicious, begins a search for Kay, which leads him to the airport where a plane is about to take off. Knocking out the pilot, he takes off in the ship hoping to land nearby and find out if Kay is in the large hamper on the ship. After rescuing Kay and telling her that he loves her, Stan, at Kay's insistence, returns her to the mine.

CHAPTER TWENTY-FOUR

STAN drove the car through Multan without a stop, and before long drew up at the gates leading into the mine property.

The two of them drove through the gate, and Stan soon deposited Kay at Jetta's house.

"Don't stir out of here until you are ready to leave," he warned her. "And would you mind asking Melody to send Wu out here? I can get him to drive the car back along the road and pick up the man who owns it. It kind of worries me."

"But what will Wu tell him? We can't let him know who you are."

"The boy will simply tell him that a man he didn't know turned the car over to him in town, and asked him to drive back and pick up the owner. It will puzzle the daylights out of him, but he won't know who took the car, or why, and he'll probably be so glad for the lift that he won't be too mad."

Melody, her face streaked with tears, looked as though she had seen a ghost when Kay walked into her room. She ran toward her, and would have kissed her hands if Kay had permitted. Instead, the girl put an arm about the maid.

"Miss Kay—Miss Kay! You're all right? You're safe!"

SLIGHT HEADACHE

"Aside from a slight headache, I feel swell, Melody. Perhaps if you were able to find me some coffee and maybe a roll or some crackers or something—"

"Right away, Miss Kay." She started to hurry out, but Kay called her back and delivered Stan's message for Wu.

"He's waiting outside in the car," she added.

Melody hurried out, and in a few minutes was back again with a tray, loaded down with things to eat and a pot of coffee.

"Wu has gone with Mister Stanley," she said.

As they drove along, Stan told the boy no more than was necessary, as he didn't want him to be involved in any way.

At the mine office, he watched Wu drive away.

"Hey, Stanley!" A foreman was calling Stan, and he turned quickly. "Yes?"

"Glad you're up and around. Heard you were sick. We need you in the mine. All the available men are out in the hills, looking for Mister Flynn."

"Any word from them, yet?"

"No, not a thing. Wait, here come some of them now."

He ran toward a cavalcade riding slowly toward the stables. Dick Morrow was at the head of the group.

"Any word of the boss, Mister Morrow?" he called.

"Not a word, and not a trace. Have the others come in yet?"

"No, sir. What do you suppose has happened to Mister Barry?"

"I have no idea."

He clucked to his horse and rode slowly on toward the stables.

Stan, chuckling to himself, walked toward the mine shaft.

"You're due for a surprise, my friend," he commented to the world in general, "when you see Miss Kay Allison in the house, as big as life and twice as natural."

Which was putting it mildly, as Kay, hearing from Melody that one of the parties had returned, reached the front porch of the big house just as Morrow, worn out and tired from his long ride, came tramping up the gravel walk.

SURPRISED

The secretary plainly was so completely taken by surprise that his usual veneer of suavity was entirely forgotten for the moment. He took off his glasses, polished them vigorously with his handkerchief, put them back on his nose and stared again at the girl.

"Why—why Miss Allison!" he gasped. "I thought—I—I—"

"Yes, I suppose you thought I was safely in Reno by this time, just coming to in that wicker hamper you so thoughtfully prepared for me."

"But how—how did you—" Morrow stopped short, and with a mighty effort controlled himself.

"I suppose it does give you quite a turn to find me here, waiting for you, does it not if?

"I imagine you're dying to find out how I ever got out of that hamper, and back here. But you can just try and find out. I'll never tell you. Perhaps I'm a relative of Houdini."

She laughed, and turned back into the house and went to her room. Her hand was in her pocket on the grip of the small gun Stan had given her. She wouldn't be caught a second time, unprepared.

Morrow, once he was over the initial shock, was furiously angry and immediately sought someone to blame for this slip in his carefully made plans.

He went into the library, and after helping himself to a liberal drink from Jetta's decanter, rang for a servant and summoned Corinne.

He had had several more drinks by the time she appeared, and with each one his anger mounted. He pounced upon the French girl the moment she opened the door, and started to berate her.

"You know very well you didn't follow my orders," he stormed. "You never put her in that hamper, as I told you. The basket the men carried out to the plane must have contained stones or someone else."

"But, Monsieur, you are mistaken!" Corinne cried. "I put her in there myself, and fastened down the lid, tight."

"There's no need to lie to me, Corinne. You did something of the sort, and you know it. Come clean, now, how much did she pay you?"

Corinne was fairly screaming now, reverting to her native French in her frantic effort to deny Morrow's charges. Finally, with a despairing shriek, she suddenly turned and fled from the room. Morrow helped himself to another drink from the decanter.

McKenney On Bridge

By WM. E. McKENNEY, America's Card Authority

The majority of players today are using strong no trumps; that is, their original bid of one no trump is not made with a weak hand. Of course, there are some players who advocate the weak no trump, and some who advocate bidding the trump with freak distribution, but the majority have a good sound hand when they bid one no trump originally.

This does not mean that you should necessarily bid one no trump with a strong hand. There should be a definite advantage to your side in opening the bidding with one no trump. Your hand should have even distribution — personally I like 4-3-3-3.

While the South hand shown today has plenty of strength and the proper distribution, an opening bid of one no trump may prevent him from getting into the proper contract. He will do better to start with one club and then force on the next round.

Over a no trump opening by South, North will be hard put for a good response. Even if he chooses two clubs, it will be difficult to reach the club slam, because North will imagine South's raises assume that North has some high club honor. But when South opens with one club, there is time to find out that the club holding on both sides is very strong, and that South's great rebid strength plus North's strong pattern are sufficient for the slam.

McCoy Health Service

Within the past few years, great advances have been made in the treatment of tuberculosis, and splendid results have been obtained in arresting the disease. Public and private sanitoriams have come to realize that medication is of little value, and that in order to secure the best results, the patient must be treated by natural methods which are designed to raise the resistance of the body to a point where the inroads of the infection are stalled. Every case of arrested t. b. is subject to an exacerbation if the patient reverts to bad habits of living and excess which lower the resistance.

Dr. Frank McCoy was always strenuously opposed to the "stuffing" treatment of this disease, and this has been borne out by practical experience with many patients. Forced feeding actually places a greater strain on the digestive organs and the body in general, than is able to be borne by the t. b. victim, who is usually lacking in appetite.

As long as any fever exists, the patient should be confined to bed but as soon as the fever abates, he should secure sufficient exercise and endeavor to carry on as usual, taking care not to overdo. When the infection is confined to the lungs, frequent X-Ray or fluoroscopic examinations should be made so that the attending doctor may observe the progress of the case. While the infection is in the active stage, every effort should be made to rest the lungs, and exercises and exertion are contra-indicated. Rest and quiet is essential in such cases, in order to give the injured tissues in the lungs an opportunity to heal and to wall off the affected part by calcium deposits. Every organ of elimination should be kept open, the skin, by frequent washing, by drinking plenty of water, by the use of the enema. The use of deep breathing exercises is of great value when the patient is convalescent, but care should be taken to see that such deep breathing does not break open parts of the lung tissue which are mildly infected. Various vitamin compounds are of value and these should be prescribed by a physician. Victims of t. b. in the lungs should not smoke or stay in any atmosphere which is humid or irritating. Climate plays some part in the cure, and a high, dry climate is of assistance. The climatic factor however has been over emphasized, and many cases have been arrested by the use of natural methods, even in middle western and eastern climates. Those readers who would like to have further information of the subject are invited to send for Dr. Frank McCoy's special articles entitled "Dieting For Tuberculosis" also "Exercise And Tuberculosis" Just address your request to the McCoy Health Service, enclosing a large self addressed envelope and six cents in stamps and your copies will be mailed promptly.

Address questions regarding health matters to The McCoy Health Service, the McCoy Building, 1151 West 6th Street, Los Angeles, California.

Aims In Peace, War Topic Of School Speech

The lecture Monday night in the medical amphitheatre at the university by Lionel Gelber, of Toronto, who is at present lecturing in the history 45 course at the summer school made food for thought for the 200 people who came to hear this noted author and lecturer.

"War and Peace Aims" was the title of the lecture, which is the first of a series of lectures to be given during the present session. The next public address in the series to be given by Mr. Gelber, who is a Rhodes scholar and recent traveller in Europe, will be presented next Monday at the university.

ORIGIN OF WAR

The present war did not start so recently, Mr. Gelber claimed. It began with the war in Spain and the firing of guns in China, when Japan invaded Manchuria. Nazism is the opposite of all that stands for democracy, he maintained; the "anti" of British revolutions of the 17th century, of the American revolution and the French revolution of the 18th century and of everything which has built for democracy in the 20th century.

In conclusion, he said that democracies may have to occupy Germany to save it from itself and even this would be better than Germany's occupation of the whole of Europe. Democracy in her hour of trial would redeem herself, he contended.

Probe Asked On Internment Step

Investigation is being sought by the Edmonton Trades and Labor Council into the circumstances leading to the internment of Cecil Sullivan, president of the Seamen's Union of Canada, and the Trades Congress of Canada will be asked to investigate and report on the matter.

Resolution of the council was passed at a meeting Monday night seeking the enquiry following considerable discussion during which a resolution by H. Parker condemning the federal government's action in interning Sullivan had been defeated.

Alfred Farmilo also reported on negotiations proceeding between Civic Union Local No. 30 and city commissioners regarding payment for statutory holidays, or in the alternative a cost of living increase wage bonus.

He reported also that the plumbers and painters were negotiating with employers in these trades for wage increases.

Resolution introduced by Malcolm Ainslie, president of Civic Union No. 30, seeking the deletion of the clause making a strike vote a necessary prelude to the application for an arbitration board under the Federal Disputes Act provisions was passed and the executive was instructed to present the resolution to the Trades Congress of Canada convention at Calgary, September 22.

Saving to the city of Edmonton through the purchase of city bonds under the Fortin redemption plan prior to maturity at prices under the par value of the bonds has been approximately $245,000, an official of the city treasurer's department stated Tuesday. This is the equivalent of 4½ mills at the present general tax rate.

Since the inception of the redemption plan in February, 1937, approximately $2,000,000 worth of Edmonton's bonds have been purchased at $1,755,000, the official stated. Next redemption period under the plan is August 1, when a further $270,000 will be wiped off the city debt. At the same time interest payments amounting to $621,000 approximately will be paid to bondholders.

High Attendance Seen For Fair

Given fine weather during fair week here July 14 to 19 all previous attendance records will be shattered if the enthusiasm of residents of Edmonton and district is as great as is displayed at the Brandon and Calgary fairs, P. W. Abbott, K.C., managing director of the Edmonton Exhibition Association, stated Tuesday after reviewing the opening day of the Calgary Stampede.

There has been enthusiastic support for the All Canadian Midway, both at Brandon and Calgary, Mr. Abbott stated, while at Winnipeg the support accorded this attraction surpassed all previous shows of its kind.

Mr. Abbott made a special appeal to Edmonton citizens to turn out on Monday evening for the official opening of the show by Hon. James A. MacKinnon, minister of Trade and Commerce. It is only fitting that the general public should pay tribute to its native Edmontonian, stated Mr. Abbott. Since his elevation to the federal cabinet he has done a great deal for his native city, he added, and by turning out to greet him on this occasion the people can show their appreciation of his efforts.

U.S. Gas Ration Is Expected To Boost Tourist Trade Here

The likelihood of gasoline rationing in the Atlantic states of the U.S. is expected to provide a movement of tourists westward, which will bring many into Canada, it was stated here by A. J. Smith, Kansas City, Mo., engineer for Ashland Oils Ltd., who arrived here Monday.

Having travelled 2,400 miles by car with his young daughter Virginia and son Jack, he stated that the last 400 miles of road were not good.

He felt that, with advances in construction made in the last 15 years, better main roads should be built in Alberta. "I am not complaining but I think we should do better," he said.

Mr. Smith will leave shortly for McMurray.
